

LORIMER CASE AGAIN BROUGHT TO NOTICE BY THE RESOLUTION

COMMITTEE ON PRIVILEGES AND ELECTIONS TAKES ACTION.

STEEL INQUIRY STARTS

Carnegie Says That He Will Appear When Wanted—Senator Nelson Attacks President in Speech.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, May 22.—The resolution calling for a prompt and sweeping inquiry into the new charges against Senator Lorimer, based upon the demand of the Illinois state senate, that the case be reopened, was introduced in the senate today by Senator Dillingham, chairman of the committee on privileges and election.

Under the rules the resolution lies over for one day. Senator Dillingham's resolution, which is in the nature of a substitute for the La Follette resolution, naming a special committee of new senators to take up the inquiry, will unquestionably be adopted by the senate.

Fight Starts. Dillingham's resolution places the new inquiry under the direction of the committee on privileges and elections. La Follette called up his resolution and delivered an address. The Wisconsin senator counts upon a number of the progressives to support his resolution as against the Dillingham substitute.

After Lorimer. An immediate investigation by the committee on privileges and elections of the renewed charges that Senator Lorimer is not entitled to a seat, will be demanded by the democratic senators when La Follette calls up his resolution of inquiry this afternoon in the senate.

This decision was made this morning at a meeting of the senate democratic steering committee.

Attacked Taft. Senator Nelson of Minnesota attacked President Taft today before the senate finance committee for seeking to prevent the senate from amending the reciprocity bill.

Senator Nelson's amendment would reduce about one half the existing rates on most farm products.

"If you put the farm products on the free list," he declared, "you are legislating directly against the farmer."

Steel Investigation. The special committee of the house, elected to investigate the United States Steel Corporation, began its work today.

Andrew Carnegie notified the "Steel Trust" investigating committee that he is willing to appear before it, and that no subpoena is necessary to insure his presence when desired.

Big Loss by Fire in Chicago Today. Northwestern Canning Company's Building on Chicago River Destroyed by Flames—Loss $100,000.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, May 22.—Four fire engines and four fire boats managed to save property adjoining the Northwestern Canning Company's building on the Chicago river which burned today. The loss is one hundred thousand dollars.

ONE DEAD AND EIGHT HURT IN AUTO SMASH. Chicago, May 22.—In a collision between an automobile and an auto truck at Washington boulevard and Kedzie street today, eight persons were injured, one victim died instantly and two others may not recover.

Brain Storm His Defense. White Plains, N. Y., May 22.—The case of Corporal Lawrence Spahr, who is charged with the murder of Rosa O'Toole, came up for trial here today. Corporal Spahr is a musician and musician of Battery G, First United States Coast Artillery, stationed at Fort Slocum. The murder of which he is accused occurred here on the night of April 21. Spahr found the girl out walking with a young railroad brakeman. He followed them to her home, seriously wounded the man and then killed the girl. It is understood the defense will be that he had a "brain storm" at the time of the shooting.

In Memory of L'Enfant. Washington, D. C., May 22.—After many years of comparative oblivion, the memory of Major L'Enfant, the young French engineer who drew the plans for the city of Washington, was honored this afternoon when the memorial erected over his grave in the Arlington national cemetery was unveiled. Several addresses were made, among the speakers being President Taft, Ambassador Jusserand of France and Senator Elihu Root. Cardinal Gibbons delivered the invocation. The memorial was unveiled by Miss Eleanor Carroll Morgan, great-granddaughter of William Dudley Digges, friend of L'Enfant, and on whose farm in Prince George County, Maryland, the body was interred prior to being removed to Arlington last year.

Extra Session in Arkansas. Little Rock, Ark., May 22.—The members of the Arkansas legislature assembled in special session today in pursuance of the call issued a week ago by Gov. Donaghey. The governor will ask the legislature to make an appropriation for completing the new capital and also to provide for a general revision of the revenue system.

EXTRA!

INDIAN FORD MAN FOUND HANGING IN BARN LATE TODAY

It was reported late this afternoon that Fred Letz, a farmer living at Indian Ford, had hung himself in his barn. Letz went into the barn, removed his hat and coat and tied a rope around his neck and then to one of the rafters of the barn. He jumped from one of the timbers. His dead body was found shortly after four o'clock by his wife. He is reported to be quite well today. No cause is known for the tragedy.

DIAZ WILL LEAVE FOR EUROPE SOON FOLLOWING PEACE

Resignation Will Probably Come Tomorrow, According to Agreement Made.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Mexico City, May 22.—Upon receipt of official advice here of the signing of the peace agreement in Junco, Sunday, it was stated today that President Diaz will not prolong his office beyond May 23, the opening date of his agreement to retire.

The President will go immediately to Vera Cruz and sail for Europe on the French liner "Espagne." He will stop enroute in Havana and consult General Hernandez Deyos.

With General Figueroa, of the southern insurgents, occupying Cuernavaca, after a decisive battle, Sunday, the object of the Mexican peace agreement in the south is uncertain.

Figueroa commands eight thousand troops and is reported determined to resist peace under Madero.

After Madero. Los Angeles, Cal., May 22.—Declaring that Francisco I. Madero is a member of the slaveholding class, and asserting that neither his elevation to the presidency nor the proposed changes in the Mexican cabinet would mean anything for the Mexican people, the Los Angeles Junta of the Mexican Insurgents today sent to the printers the draft of a manifesto signed by General Figueroa and other revolutionary leaders declaring the present war must go on.

"Until the natural sources of Mexico have been restored to their free and equal use."

CARNEGIE AGAIN WILL AID MILTON COLLEGE WITH A LARGE SUM

Dr. James Mills Receives Letter From the Iron Master Offering Financial Aid.

Andrew Carnegie has again come to the front and offered financial aid to Milton college in the erection of college buildings. This time he offers $25,000 to complete an eighteen thousand dollar structure which the college is erecting.

Dr. James Mills, who has been instrumental in securing the cooperation of the "Iron Master" in this college, is one of the trustees of the college and has been aided in his work in securing funds through the kindness of Dr. A. M. Stewart of New York City who is a warm friend of James Bertram, Carnegie's private secretary.

Four years ago Mr. Carnegie gave Milton college the sum of $6,500 to make up the debt on the library and with the $25,000 he now offers it will bring the sum total up to $31,500 in all. The attention of Mr. Carnegie to the college's needs was made by a report drawn up by President Dahand and forwarded by Dr. Mills to Mr. Carnegie.

The letter from James Bertram is as follows: New York, May 19, 1911. Dr. James Mills, Janesville, Wis. Dear Sir: Mr. Carnegie has received yours of April 12th and other letters about Milton College. He notes that you are putting up a building to cost about eighteen thousand dollars, of which eight thousand dollars have been subscribed, and will be glad to provide the last twenty-five hundred dollars of the amount still required. If the building is to cost more than eighteen thousand dollars, complete ready to occupy, Mr. Carnegie's contribution must not be called for until the difference is collected, so that when his contribution is paid there will be no further money to collect nor debt left on the building.

Respectfully yours, JAMES BERTRAM, P. Secretary.

PLEADED GUILTY TO STABBING HIS WIFE. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., May 22.—Fred D. Johnson, a farm hand, employed by a farmer who is said to live near Janesville, pleaded guilty to the murder of his wife, who had left him. He also cut her sister, Mrs. Matthew Madsen, wife of an Oregon saloon-keeper. The wounds are not serious. The traces took place on Oregon on Saturday. Johnson will be sentenced tomorrow.

CHANGE IN TAFT'S CABINET EXPECTED

Conservation Members May Be Cleaned Out to Make Way for More Progressive Type.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, May 22.—The resignation of one of President Taft's four conservative cabinet members—possibly Secretary of State Knox or Secretary of the Treasury, McVernon—is expected to make way for a more progressive man of the Fisher or Stimson type, was predicted by insurance leaders today.

The proposed change is looked upon by the La Follette faction, of the progressives, as a scheme on Taft's part looking towards the 1912 republican convention.

STRIVE TO ADJOURN JUNE TWENTY-FIRST

LEGISLATURE IN TWENTIETH WEEK ENDEAVORING TO FINISH WORK BY THAT TIME.

FOUR WEEKS REMAIN

Many Big Bills Are Pending and Senate Must Apply Themselves to Close Session in Month.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, Wis., May 22.—Wisconsin lawmakers have shed their coats and are determined to dispose of the remaining business of the present session as soon as possible.

This is the twentieth week of the session, and the indications are today that it cannot be brought to a close for another month. Many of the big bills are yet pending and it will require speed to dispose of them in the allotted time. The joint committee created to fix a date for final adjournment will meet late this week and make an attempt to agree on a date. It is the general opinion that the present session will end June 17 or 21. Both dates are being favorably discussed. As the governor has six days in which to consider bills filed with him for approval, the actual working period left for the legislature, if adjournment is taken on either date, will be less than four weeks.

Two of the pledges of the last republican state platform have so far been redeemed, they being the enactment of a workmen's compensation law and an amendment to the primary election law giving the voter an opportunity to express his second choice of candidates for office.

Other measures designed to reform republican platform pledges which will come up for consideration in one or the other of the two houses, this week, are the corrupt practices act, good roads bill, initiative and referendum resolution, income tax bill, bank deposit guaranty measure, waterways bill, and state forestry bills.

The corrupt practices act is designed for final action in the senate early this week. While the measure is stringent in its provisions, it has been well threshed out in the assembly, where it originated, and the general opinion prevails that it will see success before the upper house.

The good roads bill, which is the Donald measure, has passed the senate, and will now come up in the lower house for concurrence. It has been amended to a slight degree and will be sent back to the senate for concurrence in the amendments, if passed. The measure, in brief, provides for a non-salaried state commission to administer the law and supervise the

INJURED PREMIER IS REPORTED READY TO RESIGN HIS OFFICE

French Premier Monis to Step Out—France in Mourning For Bertaux—England Takes Action

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, May 22.—There is a belief here today that Premier Monis, who was seriously injured in an aeroplane accident near Issy-les-Moulineaux, will resign to make room for a new premier. A state funeral will be held for the war minister Friday. France is today in public mourning.

A monoplane driven by Aviator Prial became unmanageable at Issy-les-Moulineaux this afternoon and plunged directly into the great crowd of spectators. The Minister of War, M. Bertaux, was instantly killed.

The Premier, Antoine R. Monis, was seriously, if not fatally, injured. The Premier's son, Antoine, Jr., and Henri do la Mothe and a number of others were also injured.

The accident occurred at the start of what may still be the most ambitious aviation event Europe has ever known—a race from Paris to Madrid for a prize offered by a Paris newspaper, the Petit Parisien.

Take Action. London, England, May 22.—Owing to the aeroplane accident at Paris the House of Commons is drafting a bill prohibiting aeroplanes above Coronation crowds.

INSURANCE BILL TO COME UP TONIGHT

SPEAKER INGRAM TO INTRODUCE NEW STATE INSURANCE MEASUREMENT IN ASSEMBLY

DRAWN BY EXPERTS

Massachusetts Only State to Have Anything of the Kind—State Department, the Insurance Company.

Madison, Wis., May 22.—State Insurance, to provide protection at cost and a stimulus for old-age benefits, is a departure of marked significance embodied in a bill to be introduced in the assembly tonight by the speaker, Assemblyman Charles A. Ingram. The plan is in force in no other state in the union, although Massachusetts has a modified form of state insurance based on the savings bank plan.

Speaker Ingram claims that under his bill the state cannot draw Wisconsin insurance money, which is the basis of much of the eastern speculative enterprise.

Under the state insurance plan Wisconsin money must be invested in securities in Wisconsin. The idea back of it is to permit large investments in farm mortgages and other securities in this state for the benefit of agricultural, industrial and other local enterprises. The plan will eliminate high salaried officials, expensive office management, costly agents and examination fees, and permitting the commonwealth to furnish insurance to its bonafide citizens at cost. The state can reap no benefits out of the enterprise; it simply would act as custodian and be responsible for the funds.

Every kind of life policy may be written under this plan, sums of insurance ranging from $500 to $3,000 may be taken out.

Grant as the saving and benevolence resulting from life policies. In this plan, according to its sponsor, the security benefit is of larger import to the older citizens, and it is claimed that in the course of time general application of this system will tend to do away with the menace of the poorhouse and poverty-stricken conditions generally.

Scarcely an additional administrative machinery will be necessary to successfully operate this business. The state treasurer shall act as custodian of the life fund which will be under the supervision of the commissioner of insurance. He will be required to give a heavy bond. Within two years the commissioner of insurance must prepare forms of application, policies, schedules of premiums, tables of cost of insurance and reserve, to be based upon the American experience table of mortality, the premiums for annuity to be based upon the British annuity tables.

"Upon the filing of such forms," says the bill, "the commissioner of insurance shall furnish schedules of rates and copies of the forms of policies to every factory inspector, to the clerk and treasurer of every county, town, city, and village, and to every state, city, village, and town, who shall have the duty to fill out and transmit applications for insurance and annuities and such schedules and rates shall be furnished to any other person applying therefor. The application shall be transmitted to the commissioner of insurance, together with the premium of three months, or multiples thereof, and a medical examination fee of $2 in case of life insurance. The commissioner of insurance and the state board of health shall pass upon all applications for insurance, and no life insurance shall be granted without a personal medical examination, to be made at the direction of the state board of health, for which the local examiner shall receive the medical examination fee."

"This bill provides further that in case the application is rejected the deposit shall be returned. Payments for insurance may be made to the treasurer of any city, village, town or county or to any state depository, who shall receive and transmit the amounts to the commissioner of insurance."

"A surplus shall be set aside from the net profits on each policy," continues the bill, "which shall be made up on the following basis: Fifty per cent during the first policy year and thereafter 5 per cent less for each succeeding policy year until the ninth year, and thereafter the amount so set apart shall be 10 per cent. The interest thereon shall also be set apart into such surplus. . . . Loans may be made on a policy to an amount which together with interest at 6 per cent per annum shall not exceed the reserve on the next policy anniversary on the basis of the premium then paid. . . . Loans and other payments shall be audited by the secretary of state upon the adjustment, order and certificate of the treasurer, attorney general, and commissioner of insurance, acting as a board, and to be paid by the treasurer or out of the life fund, and annuities shall be paid in like manner."

"Any person applying directly to the state for insurance or transmitting any application or annuity, is allowed a fee of 25 cents on each application and of 1 per cent on the amount of the premium. This insurance applies to persons between the ages of 20 and 50 years, the state not desiring to go into the business of insurance of children. Before the plan can be put into effect 200 people must have applied for insurance. When 1,000 persons have taken out policies the state will allow any person thereafter to take out a policy not in excess of $2,000. When over 2,000 people are insured policies of $3,000 may be issued, but at no time in excess of this amount."

"Annuities may be granted to persons between the ages of 20 and 50 years," continues the bill, "to begin at the age of 65 years, in sums of $100 or multiples thereof, not exceeding $300 upon the same rate. Life insurance or annuities may be so combined and may be granted in the same policy."

"In devising this plan," said Speaker Ingram, "I have had in mind the fact that in Massachusetts, the only state to have anything of the kind, the insurance company is drawn by experts."

BELOIT FIRE TRUCK
IN-CITY YESTERDAY

Chief Nygren and Firemen Came Here Yesterday to Test New Motor Driven Apparatus.

Chief of the fire department, Nygren, and several of the firemen from that place were here yesterday in the new motor fire truck recently ordered purchased by the common council of the city of Beloit.

The run was made to Janesville for the purpose of testing the new truck for hills and roads and for touching the Beloit firemen how to operate the machine. With Chief of the fire department, C. Klein of this city, the truck was tested on South Second street. Fifteen men were placed in the machine and a standing start was taken from the bottom of the hill. The trial was successful, the car going up the hill with ease.

The Beloit truck is one of the most modern pieces of fire fighting apparatus in use and carries with it almost full equipment for fighting a fire. The engine for driving it is rated at seventy-five horse power, the body being almost entirely of steel. When empty it weighs about 5500 pounds and loaded four and a half tons. The cost of the machine was $5,250.

The equipment carried by the machine consists of a forty-five gallon chemical tank, ladders, plaster hooks, half a dozen leather fire buckets, portable fire extinguishers and other apparatus.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary Rock.
Mrs. Mary Rock, widow of the late Peter Rock, passed away at ten o'clock this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Dermody, after an illness of four weeks.

Mrs. Rock was born in County Louth, Ireland, May 4, 1835. She came to this country when a young woman and on Sept. 25, 1859, she was married to Peter F. Rock, at Milwaukee. Later they moved to Janesville where they resided since that time. In her long residence here Mrs. Rock had made a large number of friends. Her husband, who was a conductor on the C. & N. W. railway, preceded her in death some years ago.

She leaves three daughters and one son: Mrs. Jos. Seaver, Chicago; Mrs. Nellie Hockrich of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Edw. Dermody of this city; and Louis Rock, also of this city. She also leaves two sisters: Mrs. R. C. Hockwood of Blackfoot, Idaho; and Mrs. Anna Kitchin, Portage; and one brother, Jas. Conlon, also of Portage.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at nine o'clock from St. Patrick's church. Interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Mrs. Martha Dunn.
Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Martha Dunn, Tuesday, May 16, at her home in Algona, Iowa. Mrs. Dunn was born near Emerald Grove and had lived in Janesville a number of years ago. She had many friends in this city.

The deceased was born July 8, 1844, at Emerald Grove and after her early life was spent in Wisconsin in the vicinity of Janesville. Her maiden name was Martha McCullough. She was married to A. J. Dunn, at this city, in 1865. For a short time after their marriage they resided at Lincoln, Neb., and later removed to Denver and then Omaha, where Mr. Dunn was a prosperous business man. Mr. Dunn passed away five years ago, and since that time Mrs. Dunn has made her home with her sister, Mrs. John Galbraith, at Algona, Iowa. For the past three weeks she had been suffering with nervous collapse which resulted in her death. The funeral was held Friday afternoon.

Robert Wheelock.
Robert Paul Wheelock, aged six months, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Wheelock, on North River street, yesterday morning. Death came after a week's illness with bronchial pneumonia. The funeral was held this afternoon at half past three from the home. Rev. T. D. Williams officiated and the body was tenderly laid at rest in Oak Hill cemetery.

George Beasley.
Funeral services for the late George Beasley were held yesterday morning at 11:45, from the home at Emerald Grove, Rev. O'Neill officiated and interment was made in the cemetery in Emerald Grove. The pallbearers were: Charles Gillman, John McArthur, Frank Wetmore, and John Jones.

Miles Kehoe.
Funeral services for the late Miles Kehoe were held from St. Patrick's church this morning at nine o'clock. Donnelly officiated and interment was made in Mt. Olivet cemetery. The pallbearers were: A. Rooney, Will Rooney, John Mooney, Edward Sheridan, James Smith and Geo. Jungblut.

Mrs. William McDermid.
The funeral of the late Mrs. William McDermid was held this morning at ten o'clock from the Catholic church at Milton Junction. Solomon high mass was performed. Father C. P. McBride officiated. The deceased was a celebrated Milwaukee actress as a celebrated assistant by Father James J. McElhinney of Janesville as deacon and Father McCarthy of Fort Atkinson as sub-deacon. There were many friends in attendance and the floral tributes were many and beautiful. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery at Milton Junction. The pallbearers were: Philip Doherty, James Doherty, John Sullivan, John Monaghan, John McBride, Michael Powers.

The Lengthy Lobbies.
"Why do they call Washington the city of magnificent distances?" "Because," answered the office-seeker, "it is such a long way between what you go after and what you get."

Warning to Guests.
In the forenoon at Marlborough the great dining hall bears this inscription: "He who wishes to eat here must be delicate in his eating, chaste in his conversation and peaceful in his manner; above all, please and loyal; if not, he will soon receive notice to quit."

SECOND SECTION OF 500 IN RECORD RUN YESTERDAY

Train number 500, between Janesville and Chicago, ran in two sections yesterday. The second section made a record run for a freight train, leaving here at eight o'clock in the morning and returning at a quarter past two in the afternoon. Engineer Guy Cole and Fireman Hackschaw composed the engine crew and Conductor O'Brien and brakemen McCaffrey and Pitcher were on the job.

CALLER WILL McDONALD.
AS PURCHASING AGENT

Caller Will McDonald has been given the position of purchasing agent for the M. P. D. baseball team. There has recently been some dissatisfaction among the players and accusations of a startling character have been made. It is alleged that McDonald was supplied with funds with which to buy two league baseballs, and procured only the twenty-five cent variety without accounting for the remainder of the money. It was rumored that the auditing committee would investigate but later advice is to the effect that McDonald has secured the required tickets and action will undoubtedly be postponed.

IMPORTANT CHANGE ON THE MADISON DIVISION

An important change has been made regarding train 580, on the Madison division, which formerly ended its run in Janesville. This schedule now provides that it run through to Belvidere, daily, and leave the latter place every morning at eight o'clock on an extra in Janesville, where it will take train 585 to Baraboo.

Caller Garrett Fomire has been presented with a mail ticket by Engineer J. Conklin, who runs a coal shop at the yards. Fomire is on the job for a lunch every morning.

On account of wet grounds and the absence of Muscat Sullivan the ball game at the roundhouse, scheduled for today, has been postponed until a later date.

Thomas Riordan, foreman of the bridge and building department, spent yesterday in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Runs 584 and 591, between Baraboo and Janesville, are ballasted for an engine.

Engineer C. Stewart has been assigned to runs 580 and 579, between Baraboo and Janesville.

Machinist Simpson Lawson and family left Saturday morning on 501 for a visit with relatives in central Michigan.

Frank Hennessy, timemaker, was a Milwaukee visitor yesterday.

Conductor Ed. Anderson returned to work this morning.

Harbor-Martin has been added to the roundhouse force.

Robert Slavert, machinist's helper, is laying off today.

R. J. Adams, machinist, resigned his position last Saturday.

Beloit switch-engine, number 725, was brought to the local shops yesterday for light repairs.

CONFIRMATION AT EDGERTON CHURCH

Large Class Were Received Into Norwegian Lutheran Church—Edgerton High School Team Defeated.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, May 22.—Sunday morning confirmation services were held at the Norwegian Lutheran church. The class being made up both from the city and country, the services were largely attended. The class consisted of the following members: Ruby Perry, Emma Harrison, Mulla Gunderson, Emilie Dahl, Lydia Johnson, Syvert Amundson, Robert Hansen, James Olson, Gladys Hanson, Margaret Ellingson, Inger Jensen, Alma Johnson, Sanford Jensen, Halmer Johnson, Henry Johnson. At the evening services the new members were administered the Lord's Supper.

Whitewater Won.

The first important ball game of the season in Edgerton was played Saturday afternoon between the Whitewater high school and the Edgerton high school at the Driving Park. Both teams put up a good game, but at the end of the ninth inning the score was 14 to 7 in favor of Whitewater. During the progress of the game the Whitewater catcher injured one of his fingers on the right hand and a substitute had to be installed to finish the game.

Personal.

Andrew Nelson, one of the farmers of the town of Sumner, was in town Saturday on business.

Mason work on the mammoth stone wall for the P. M. Ellingson block is progressing rapidly.

Charles Trotter and Arthur Ratna left Saturday night for Hot Springs, Ark., for an indefinite stay.

Mrs. Jacob Jacobson of Ellsboro, after a visit here of a few days with the family of Julius Clemet, went to Janesville this morning.

Oscar Nordling left this morning to attend the funeral of his uncle, Peter Nyman, who died in a Milwaukee hospital, and the funeral was held today at the East Koskimo church.

Arrangements are in progress by H. A. Swift Post, G. A. R., for the proper observance of Memorial day. In this city, Rev. Roberts, pastor of the Congregational church, has been secured to deliver the address.

MARVEL OF CINEMATOGRAHY

Wonderful Apparatus Invented by Dr. Cranz of the Military Academy of Berlin.

A cinematograph apparatus which takes pictures with intervals of one five-thousandth of a second has been invented by Dr. Cranz of the Military Academy of Berlin. A striking example of the power of the apparatus shows a bullet fired at a bladder of water that is hung on a string.

The eye only sees a little smoke from the pistol and a couple of holes in the bladder, from which the water runs; but when this is cinematographed and the film is shown slowly a very interesting series of operations can be watched.

First the bullet is seen approaching. It is traveling 1,000 feet a second, but it seems to move quite deliberately in front of it and extending a long way above and below it is a dim line, bent sharply immediately before the bullet. A bullet can no more pass through air than a vessel can through water without making a wave; and this is the air wave. It is made visible on account of its different density, just as the waves in air are seen above a chimney or over hot ground.

Behind the bullet come scattered grains of the powder that have not been burned, and traveling more slowly still comes the wad. The bullet enters the bladder and disappears inside, a little water spouting out of the hole it makes. Then it reaches the other side, but it no longer cuts through at once, as it did when the bladder was backed up by the water. Somewhat like a finger seems to pull the bladder outward into a long tube, then the tube opens and lets out the bullet, which gradually travels away—London correspondence New York Sun.

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." Mrs. Inez Lewis, Barling, Maine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures blood diseases and builds up the system. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

THEATER

Low Docketader.

The attraction at the Myers Theatre Monday, May 22, will be Low Docketader and his 20th Century minstrels as the comedian is pleased to term the organization now touring under his own personal management. In offering his minstrel show this season, Docketader has departed widely from the long accepted ideas of entertainments of this class and presents a minstrelsy in rather strange garb. In the first place, he has done away with the time honored semicircle of the "first part" and the telling of the ancient minstrel joke by the end man no longer exists. In the Docketader program, the comedian insists that his show is minstrelsy with a plot and the whole entertainment hinges around a story said to be quite as interesting as the plot of a novel.

on this first act, Docketader is in slumberland while the entire vocal strength of the company renders pleasing music. The second part of the entertainment instead of the time worn vaudeville continues the story of the first act, showing the realization of the dream of Docketader and contains a series of gorgeous scenes and a logical conclusion. During the progress, several travesties are introduced, among them being one on the comic opera "Milk and Honey."

Mr. Low Docketader and his great minstrel company will be the closing attraction of the season at Myers theatre.

teresting as in any of the modern musical comedies. The first act of this modernized minstrel show is called "The Possum Hunt Club Revue" and shows the Terraced Lawn of the Club House occupied by the members seated at tables during a reception by this well colored organization. The book and lyrics of "The Possum Hunt Club Revue" are by Vincent Bryan, who is a well known librettist and song writer, who has had many successes to his credit. The story and the fun making begins shortly after the rise of the curtain at the entrance of Low Docketader, who is fooled by the president of the club into the belief that by taking a draught of a certain beverage that all of his dreams will come true. As the curtain descends Wonderful Artificial Man.

A Berlin inventor has succeeded, after years of toil, in making an artificial man who can walk, make all movements, speak, sing, laugh and whistle. It is a life-size figure, and so natural an imitation as to be completely deceptive a yard away. "Oscultus," as the figure is named, obeys words of command, such as "march" and "halt," and he answers any questions put to him. It is not an illusion or a trick. It is a piece of pure mechanical work.

What He Wanted.

A young man, having an impediment in his speech that prevented him from pronouncing certain words plainly, went into a butcher's shop to buy some sliced shoulder. The butcher was unable to understand what his customer wanted and the young man repeated the order several times, much to the amusement of those present. Finally, becoming indignant at the concealed ridicule, he slapped the butcher on the shoulder and blurted out: "I want some of this, but I want it sliced off of the other hog!" —Illustrated Magazine.

SPORTING NOTES

DOWNPOUR OF RAIN STOPPED THE GAME

Contest Between Janesville and Watertown, at Fair Grounds, Yesterday, Ended by Sudden Shower.

A torrential down-pour yesterday afternoon ended the baseball game between the Janesville team and the Watertown nine, which was being played at the fair grounds, in the middle of the third inning. The rain drove the players off the field and soaked the grounds so that further playing was made impossible on account of the condition of the grounds. Rain checks were given out by Manager Green. The score, when the contest was called, was two to one in Janesville's favor. Hallett, a south-paw, was on the slab for the visitors, with Macarke behind the bat. Despite the natural advantage which a left-handed pitcher is supposed to possess, the Watertown hurler did not puzzle the local sluggers much, and they found him for five safeties. Smith, pitching for Janesville, was in good form and allowed three hits. The Watertown aggregation was credited for three errors to one for Janesville. Cronin caught for Janesville.

Parker Pen Co. Won.
Parker's pen-makers humbled the Y. M. C. A. athletes in a practice game at Athletic park on Saturday afternoon, holding errors being principally the cause of the downfall of the association baseball players. Six hits were credited to each side, the visitors making four singles and two two-baggers, while the "Y" batters rapped out four singles, a two-bagger and one home-run. Macdonald was the star of the session at hitting the ball, making two singles and galloping around the bases to home on a drive into the creek. Abraham, for the Pen company nine, had the better of it over Green for the Y. M. C. A., in spite of the fact that he pitched with a sore arm. The former allowed but two bases on balls, while nine men were given passes by Green. Green struck out nine of the pen-makers and Abraham retired eight men. The teams lined up as follows:
Parker Pen: Hallett, c; Abraham, p; Hill, ss; Nehr, 1b; Clusky, 2b; Butters, 3b; Berger, lf; Houston, cf; Dawey, rf.
Y. M. C. A.: Brown, c; Green, p; McDonald, ss; Henning, 1b; Campbell, 2b; Clark, 3b; Edler, lf; Kora, cf; Robbins, rf.

City School League.
Some discussion has arisen over the title to first place in the league among the graded schools of the city, the Garfield school basing their claim on their victory over the Washington school nine Saturday night, with two games won and one lost, gave them a percentage of 66.6. The Adams school, however, disputes this, claiming that in the one game that has been played, with the Garfield school nine, it was the winner, and the second ward nine is therefore entitled to the honors. Under the Garfield school's claim, the Adams school team is tied with the Lincoln and Jefferson schools for third place. The standing of the teams, according to the Adams school players, is as follows:

School	W.	L.	Pct.
Adams	1	0	1.000
Garfield	2	1	.666
Washington	1	1	.500
Lincoln	0	1	.000
Jefferson	0	0	.000

A rally in the ninth inning gave the game to the Garfield school in the contest between that squad and the Washington school players on Saturday morning. The score being 15 to 14. The Washington school nine had the better of it up until the ninth, but hits off Drake, their pitcher, with errors by others of the team, lost the game for them. The batteries: Garfield—Mason, Drew and Stokes; Washington—Drake and Foley.

The "Cubs" of the Adams school, rival claimants with the Garfield school for first place in the school league, on Saturday defeated the Evansville Eagles, 5 to 4, in an eleven inning game at the Adams school grounds. A hit by Phelan, pitcher for the Cubs, brought in the winning run. Phelan, Brown and Densen carried off the honors for playing. The batteries: Evansville—Birmingham and Smith; Cubs—Phelan, Brown and Fuchs. The Cubs have issued a challenge to play any graded school team in the city.

Quality Hills Beaten.
The "Quality Hill Sluggers" met defeat at the hands of the Trinity church team for the third time on Saturday, the latter winning by a score of 18 to 16. The Sunday school boys put the game on ice in the seventh inning. Dearborn pulled off a sensational play, making a running one-hand catch. The line-ups:
Trinity Church: Kavelago, c; Doran, p; Dearborn, ss; Dixon, 1b; Ameripoli, 2b; Grant, 3b; Mills, lf; R. Mills, cf; Gregory, rf.
Quality Hills: Bayle, c; Brown, p; Moore, ss; Lee, 1b; Watterson, 2b; Allen, 3b; Grant, lf; Hodson, cf; Weirick, rf.

JANESVILLE CUBS LOST TO DELAVAN YESTERDAY

Local Nine Defeated in Game With City Team at Delavan by Score of Seven to Three.

The Janesville Cubs met their second defeat this season, yesterday, when they played the Delavan city team at Delavan. The final score being 7 to 3. Numerous errors by Janesville aided their opponents in winning, the local athletes having six marked against them. The sensation of the game was a running one-hand catch by Kokort of the Cubs.

"TOWN TERROR" TO BE EJECTED

People Have Become Enraged at His Havoc. Big Campaign Being Started Against Him

HOUSEWIVES EVERYWHERE UP IN ARMS

The "Town Terror" has at last come to the end of his rope. He has been tormented and terrorized the people of this town beyond the limit. The long suffering housewives have been patient and lenient—they have endured the misery he brought until now. At last they have organized against him and have made up their minds that he must go. So we guess it's goodbye to "Old Man Dust."

Today a warrant was issued against him, and he has been ordered out of town without delay. He has always been a foot-footed rascal and hard to catch, so we will not be surprised if the police experience some trouble in capturing him.

For years "Old Man Dust" has blackened the name of our city, and the report of his downfall will be welcomed with much glee by every patriotic citizen.

BITES OFF HOLD-UP MAN'S EAR. Intended Victim Also Shoots Omaha Assailant With Own Gun.

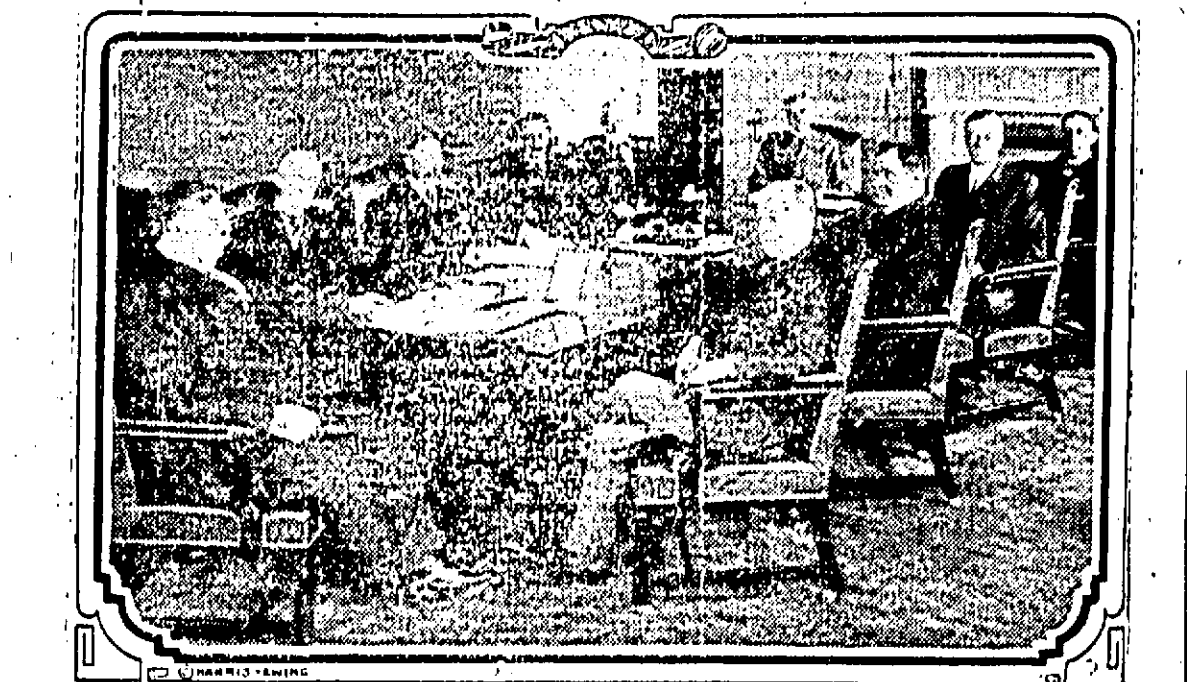

Omaha, Neb., May 22.—Arrested as a suspicious character by a policeman who found him on the street with blood flowing from where his right ear should have been, Nicholas Levata was confronted at the police station by Louis Guida, who held in his hand the missing ear. Levata had loved a gun at Guida two hours earlier, with a command to throw up his hands. Instead Guida grappled his assailant, wrestled the gun from him, bit off his ear and as he started to run fired, inflicting a slight wound. Levata has been identified as the author of several similar hold-ups.

Hatpin Stab Is Serious. Lima, O., May 22.—Prof. John L. Cotner of the local high school faculty is confined to his home threatened with lockjaw, as the result of an accidental stab in his left temple, made by a hatpin in the hands of a choir girl at Grace church.

SPRING TERRORS OF THE SIERRAS. Hardy mountaineers of Sierra county, California, searching for bodies of neighbors killed in a mighty snow avalanche. Downville, Cal.—The high Sierras of California have a terror all their own in the terrible snow slides which take place every spring. The snow drifts in exposed places to a depth of 50 or even 100 feet, and when loosened by rain or thaw plunges with relentless fury into the canyons below. A number of disastrous slides have already taken place during the early spring weeks and many lives have been sacrificed to the greedy monster, avalanche. Owing to the remote and inaccessible regions in which these slides occur they are seldom photographed.

Daily Health Hint. Wounds, of whatever sort, should be treated by a surgeon. If they be too serious to be cured by court or adhesive plaster. In applying these plasters, however, be particular that no dirt be left in the wound, and also that the edges be brought into perfect contact exactly as the parts lay before the accident, or as near to that position as possible.

If a shoe can be sold at $3.35, what's the sense in screwing it up to $3.50 just to make a "round figure" price? Or, if its proper price is $4.85, what's the sense in gouging the hidden parts of the shoe to get the price down to $4.50?

Regal Shoes hereafter are to be sold at what it costs to make them, plus 5% commission and the necessary allowance for delivery to the wearer.

This price is figured at the factory, Verified by Chartered Public Accountants and stamped on the shoe at the factory.

Prices range from $335 to $585

Most miles for the least money

The Brush is incomparable on this score—take it from any view point. In first cost, in operation, in repairs, it costs less than any other dependable car made.

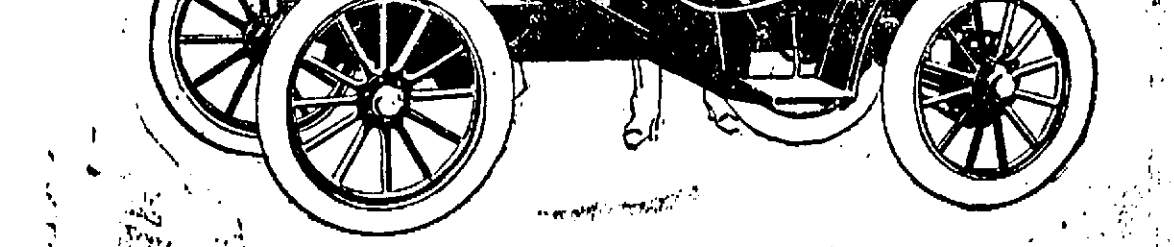

Recently a New York editor told us he had paid only $4.65 for repairs during an entire season's constant running.

Innoculated with the big car virus, he bought a big car—but his wife insisted that he keep the Brush for her use.

She could drive it herself, feared no mechanical difficulties—having no big car complications to oppress her.

That's another beauty of the Brush. It's so simple anyone can drive it. It's so dependable no mechanical knowledge is necessary to handle it. It's so economical anyone can afford to own and operate it. That's why it's called Everyman's Car.

Let us show you why hundreds are using it to advantage both for business and pleasure.

Let us give you a ride.

AN OBJECT LESSON.

William H. Bailey, Ph. D., Assistant Professor of Political Economy in Yale University, contributes to the "Independent" the following statement of fact:

"A study has recently been made by the Sage Foundation to determine the rate at which children drop out of the elementary public schools of this country. The study covered the 386 principal cities in the United States. The results of the investigation, in a nutshell, are as follows:

"For every eighteen children to enter the first year in the grammar school only ten remained in the fifth grade, five in the eighth, and but one remained to graduate from the high school. In other words, 91 per cent of the children who entered the city school systems in the United States failed to complete the full twelve years, which lead to a high school diploma.

"There are no accurate statistics with regard to the children who, after the public schools in the rural districts, but observation leads to the conclusion that an even smaller proportion complete the high school course. The complaint is heard on all sides that the public schools do not prepare men and women for their life work, and in many quarters there is a demand for vocational and trade schools to fill this want. In Germany the attempt is being made to meet this demand by continuation schools.

"Regular attendance is required in the common schools until the age of fourteen is reached, and from fourteen until eighteen the boy is required to spend from twelve to sixteen hours a week in a continuation school. He enters a trade at fourteen, learning the practical side at a bench, and in the continuation school gets a theoretical training in the branch to which he intends to devote his life, which gives him a broad foundation and the chance to become a skilled workman. It is possible that practical training of this kind might serve to create a deeper interest in education and teach both parent and scholar the advantages of further training in the public school."

AMERICANS IN CANADA.

The discussion of Canadian reciprocity is bringing to the surface many facts concerning the dominion, just across the border, and among the most interesting is the great exodus of American farmers, during the past two years. The great attraction is the vast amount of Canadian land open to settlement.

Last year 160,000 farmers went into Canada from this country, and they carried with them in money and personal effects, over $75,000,000. This year, so far, some 20,000 Americans have crossed the border, carrying with them approximately $11,000,000 in ready money and personal effects. Migration into Canada from the United States, it is estimated by the land officials of the various Canadian roads, will exceed last year's by 45,000 or 50,000.

It is estimated that there are still about 200,000,000 acres of unemployed wheat land and 25,000,000 acres that are suited to cattle raising. Not included with these acreages are the large territories that are at present catalogued as of doubtful value or belonging to the sub-arctic regions.

The Grand Trunk, which will extend westward to Winnipeg, is being built by the Dominion government and on its completion will be turned over to the Grand Trunk Pacific for a term of fifty years on a rental basis that will amount to 3 per cent on its construction cost. In 1903 the cost was estimated at roughly $30,000 a mile, or $54,000,000, but owing to unforeseen difficulties and attendant extra expenditures in keeping the road to a 4-10 of 1 per cent grade and increase in cost of labor and material, it is estimated that the cost on completion of the road will be very much higher.

"The entire enterprise, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, according to original estimates, was to be completed by the end of 1911, but it is evident from estimates now made, that the road will not be completed until 1915. Unexpected engineering difficulties have presented themselves all along the line from Port William westward, and those in conjunction with labor troubles account in great part for the delays so far recorded. White labor, despite the relatively high wages offered, is difficult to obtain, particularly in British Columbia territory, and the importation of Asiatic labor is forbidden by the provincial governments.

"This is the road which runs through the great wheat belt, and which is attracting so many American farmers. It is an open question as to when a man ceases to be an American, but this little army of farmers is now a part of the Dominion government, where they will vote and contribute to its support.

It is not a very pleasant thought that we are exchanging this class of citizens for a class much less desirable from the old world.

PLAYING POLITICS.

The following paragraph from a financial letter summarizing the events of last week, indicates how the big men in the senate are playing politics. The legislation of the extra session promises to be a desecration of results.

"Washington did nothing useful last week, and is still plowing the sand, with a petty exhibition of sectional greed and indifference to the broader welfare of the country. The Canadian reciprocity agreement lingers in the senate, where Senator Root made an absolutely indefensible attempt to kill it by amendment. Other senators may profess to be ignorant of the fact that the agreement is not subject to amendment, and that any change will make it something other than was negotiated by the representatives of the two countries.

"It was Mr. Root himself who pointed out to Senator Cummins that an amendment to free everything imported from Canada opened up the whole question of the most favored nation rule, and left it incumbent upon the United States to grant free imports to every other country.

"The senator from New York proposes a new gift, but his amendment is exactly of that plausible, tricky sort calculated to postpone reciprocity indefinitely. It would have to wait for every single province of Canada to express an independently favorable opinion on the cutting and export of lumber, and it is by no means certain that it would not raise some of the difficulties which Mr. Root foresaw in the Cummins amendment. The whole thing is unworthy and depressing, and exhibits the same utter lack of sincerity which has so far characterized the tariff discussion."

The political barometer is not clearing, and the stormy session, now progressing at the national capital, indicates breakers ahead which may wreck the republican party. The President is obliged to depend on democrats for the support of his measures, and the farmers of the west have served notice on him if he persists in Canadian reciprocity. The devil or the deep blue sea loom up as the alternative. Not a very joyous prospect.

The child welfare exhibit which has held the boards at the Chicago Coliseum for the past ten days, has attracted more than a quarter million visitors. The work has been so philanthropic that church creeds have been forgotten, and Jews and Gentiles, protestants and Catholics, have worked together, not for the salvation of the soul of the child, but for the redemption of his body, and a more wholesome life. Good results are bound to follow.

The latest trend to demand attention by the government, is a combination of some sixty American and foreign casualty companies which write accident insurance. Investigators claim that rates have advanced to such an extent that they are burdensome, and that no apparent cause exists for increased rates.

The wheat harvest in Texas will begin next month and the outlook is promising for a better crop than last year, when the yield was 175,000,000 bushels. There will be no shortage of bread and butter this year, with plenty of pie on the side if half the blossoms mature.

Senator Whitehead, while representing a hopeless minority, had influence enough to keep the members on dress parade. This is good corn weather, and the legislature ought to adjourn and get out in the country in farmers' attire.

Wisconsin proposes to elect United States senators by popular vote in spite of the constitution.

Uncle Walt
THE POET-PHILosopher
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)
By WALT AMBON.

The poets have sung in a hallowing strain of the moneyless man and his sorrow and pain. He gets the ice pitcher wherever he goes—no welcome for him, no relief.

THE MONEY: from him, no relief. LESS MAN by the janitor's foot, policeman begrudge him the use of the street, he's chased from the alleys as though he a dog, and turned from the doors of the swell synagogues; he must drag out his days in the best way he can—the world has no use for the penniless man. Supposing it's true, why should ease words be hurled like bricks at the poor old long-suffering world? In ninety-nine cases of more out of ten, the blame should be placed on the moneyless man; the lazy, the shiftless, when hustled and wrecked, how much from the world are they due to expect? And why should industrious citizens give loners interesting the towns where they live? When bitter misfortune comes down on a guy who's shown that he's honest and willing to try, the world looks up in a peevish way, and does what it can for the suffering guy. But most of the hollowest moneyless men have banked this planet again and again. I don't blame the world that it's likely to pan on the cheatin' spirit of the moneyless man.

CRAB WIPES OUT A FAMILY.
Father, Mother and Two Girls Killed When Car Hits Buggy.

Newark, O., May 22.—Dennis Dodson, thirty-five, his wife, Helen, twenty-eight, their daughter Edith, five, were killed outright, their daughter Helen, seven, was fatally injured, dying an hour later, the horse was killed, the buggy demolished at Vardoes Lane, seven miles west of this city, when the horse was frightened and jumped in front of a rapid running interurban car westbound to Luckey Lake, loaded with passengers.

Bank President Drowned.
Black River Falls, Wis., May 22.—Frank J. Odenholz, aged forty-five, president of the Jackson County bank and a member of the city council, was drowned, when a gasoline launch in which he was sailing turned turtle. Eight others in the boat were easily rescued.

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE.

HER RECIPE.
Mrs. Benjamin Whitaker of New York city has discovered a great secret, which, in brief, is—

How to be happy though rich.
She feeds 200 pale faced, hungry little children every day of the year with a bowl of thick, nourishing soup and two generous slices of bread.

All for 3 cents.

Mrs. Whitaker loses from half a cent to a cent on each of the lunches, which does not disturb her whatever, as our Irish friends would say.

Public school No. 21 is on Mott street, in the heart of the Italian quarter. And some of these children have scarcely any food save the lunch.

In this district the parents monthly are away from home during the day making the living, and many of the little ones come to school only half nourished.

Mrs. Whitaker puts her automobile into good use shopping for meat and vegetables. Her noon hour is spent over the hot kettles of soup.

She does not need to do this.

The Whitakers are wealthy, and she has a fine home and all the luxuries of life.

If she chose she might parade her fine costumes in the corridors of the swell hotels or critically sample the menus of the high priced restaurants, after the manner of many rich females.

Mrs. Whitaker does not choose to sit like a gay humming bird from one sweet to another. Instead—

In an old dress, sleeves well rolled up, she sturdily ladles out her delicious soup to the poor, peaked faced kids, who adore her.

She is more concerned in getting substance and flavor into her big batch of soup than in all the concerns of the clubs and cafes of the town.

Happy?
She says she is the happiest woman in New York city—and looks it.

And she does not understand why the bored, worn, rich women who loiter in their limousines and hunt the theaters trying to find one thrill of pleasure—and failing—should not use her recipe.

She says even the rich may be happy if they will only try.

Even they may know the divine thrill and benediction of feeding Christ's hungry, for—

Who gives himself with his arms feeds three—Himself, his hungry neighbor and me.

DEATH TAKES NOTED CHEMIST.

Prof. De La Fontaine, Famous as Expert Witness, is Dead.

Chicago, May 22.—Marcus A. de la Fontaine, for 30 years professor in chemistry in Chicago high schools, known throughout the west as a leading chemist of his day, and connected in an expert capacity with every celebrated poison case in Chicago and vicinity for 25 years, died of pneumonia at his home in this city.

The name of the chemist will be recalled by millions of newspaper readers for his frequent mention in the proceedings of such famous trials as that of Adolph Loeb and John Hoes. He was retained by the state in many other cases of equal renown.

Professor de la Fontaine was born at Geneva and was seventy-three years old. His health began to fail rapidly about a month ago.

50 NEW POSTAL BANKS NAMED.
Postmaster General to Designate 100 Each Week Thereafter.

Washington, May 22.—Postmaster General Hitchcock, impressed by the reports of the successful operation of the postal savings system, has decided to designate hereafter, for a considerable time, 100 additional postal depositories each week. Instead of 50, as announced a month ago.

Announcement was made of the designation of 50 additional depositories, 23 of them to be located west of the Mississippi, where the heaviest deposits heretofore have been made and where the department feels banking facilities are comparatively limited. Among those designated, which will open for postal savings business June 19, are: De Kalb, Ill.; Michigan City, Ind.; Colfax, La.; Calumet, Mich.; Cudahy, Wis.; Chippewa Falls, Wis.

ALASKA CLAIMS DECLARED VOID.
Hundreds Rejected by Government—400 Yet to Be Passed Upon.

Seattle, Wash., May 22.—Final report has been made by the field division of the general land office on 700 of the 1,100 Alaska coal claims and notice of the findings will be sent to the claimants in due course.

The contents of the report has not been made public but so far as known, none of the claims in the various Alaskan coal fields has been found valid. In the Tannian field, all the locations have been canceled because no application for patent was made. In the Cape Lisburne field, where a bluff of coal overhangs the shore of the Arctic ocean, all but two of the locations have been canceled. The remaining 400 entries are now under investigation, which is progressing as rapidly as circumstances will permit.

DR. WILEY ON NEW CRUSADE.
Wants Certain Manufacturers of Condensed Skimmed Milk Prosecuted.

Washington, May 22.—A crusade against manufacturers of condensed skimmed milk who misrepresent their product has been started by the department of agriculture. Doctor Wiley has recommended that certain manufacturers be prosecuted for violation of the pure food law and it is probable that proceedings against them will be started within the next few days. Doctor Wiley says he is convinced that the lives of an unlimited number of infants are endangered every day by the use of such milk.

BARBERS PUT BAN ON TIPPING.
Decide in St. Louis That Custom is Causing Men to Shave Belated.

St. Louis, May 22.—A ban was placed on tipping at a mass meeting of barbers and journeymen barbers. The action comes as the result of investigation by the officials of the International Union of Journeymen Barbers of America.

Barbers have for some time made a national cry because their patrons were joining the ranks of the self-shavers. The issue became so pronounced in St. Louis that the attention of the national association was called to it. And the answer comes back, after a close study of conditions throughout the country, that the plug is the reason why men shave themselves.

Washington Honors Engineer Who Laid Out Plans of City.
Washington, May 22.—Impressive ceremonies marked the unveiling to-day of the memorial to Major L'Enfant, the French engineer who laid out the plans for the city of Washington, at Arlington. President Taft, Senator Root and the French ambassador, M. Jusseland, delivered brief addresses, and the occasion was given a degree of military pomp by the presence of a considerable number of the troops stationed in Washington and Fort Myer.

For many years the body of Major L'Enfant lay in a modest grave on the old Dikens farm, in Prince Georges county, Md. H. B. F. MacFarland, at that time president of the board of district commissioners, took a lively interest in the project to remove Major L'Enfant's remains to Arlington, and congress finally authorized the commissioners to expend $1,000 in transferring the remains. The body was reinterred at Arlington on the afternoon of April 28, 1909, after interesting services at the capitol.

Shakespeare Theories.
There have been men crazy enough to try to prove, with elphers and all manner of mysterious signs and tokens, that Shakespeare was Bacon, that Shakespeare was the son of Elizabeth, that Shakespeare, like Homer, was several people. Nobody has ever been crazy enough to try to prove that Shakespeare was crazy.

TENTATIVE PLANS AS TO THE FOURTH ARE DECIDED UPON NOW

EIGHT HUNDRED SOLDIERS AND SIX BANDS WILL MAKE DAY A MEMORABLE ONE.

MUCH MONEY NEEDED

Battery From Milwaukee Come on a Special Train—One Hundred and Two Men, Four Guns and Fifty-nine Horses and Camp Here.

At the meeting of the joint committee of the Industrial and Commercial club and the United Spanish War Veterans, it was decided that the acceptance from the eight infantry companies and the famous Milwaukee battery of artillery, to take in the big military celebration July 3rd, 4th and 5th, assured the success of the undertaking.

It was also decided to hire the bands from Edgerton, Stoughton, Evansville, Rockford, Deloit and Janesville to furnish the music for the three days and the chairman of the committees having the transportation of the troops and of hiring the music were instructed to go ahead with their preparations.

The military end of the three days' celebration will come from Monroe, Co., Ill., with 72 men; Ft. Atkinson, Co., Ill., with 61 men; Watervliet, Co., N. Y., with 66 men; Madison, Co., Ill., with 74 men; Deloit, Co., Ill., with 65 men; three companies from Milwaukee, A 61 men, F 58 men, and C 61 men with 60 men. Beside these the Milwaukee Light Battery with 102 men, four guns and fifty-nine horses will come by a special train Monday and possibly the famous Troup A of Milwaukee, with 71 men, will march overland.

The transportation of these troops here and their return will cost in the neighborhood of $1000 and the problem of feeding them while here will also be another important item for consideration. The music for the three days will cost $1,000. Camps will be established in four parts of the city to accommodate the troops. Co. A, from Deloit, will bring with them their own camp equipment, cooking outfit, and making the march overland.

Applications for concessions have been received from many sources and it is proposed to place this important feature of the raising of funds to repay the bond holders, in the hands of a competent man who will assume the charge of the work. Ball games between the Janesville team and strong outside teams will be arranged for the three days, this matter having been left to Manager Brown of the Janesville team to arrange for.

A special committee consisting of George M. McKee of the Industrial and Commercial Club, Edward B. Fulton, state department commander of the United Spanish War Veterans, and Chairman Carl Buchholz of the Joint committee, will go to Madison Saturday day to formally invite Governor McFarland to be the guest of the community during the three days. Adjutant General Boardman to assume command of the encampment and other prominent state officials to be present July 4th.

The committee on reception of the guests of the days will be Mayor John C. Nichols, chairman; Victor P. Richardson, Thos. S. Nolan, S. B. Heddes, Peter J. Mount, Norman L. Carlo, George Rutherford, M. G. Joffe, John M. Whitehead, Grant U. Fisher, Capt. Phyllis Norcross, H. E. Biles, Allan P. Lovejoy, John G. Jorj, P. H. Korat, R. M. Bostwick, J. A. Craig.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT V FOR CIVIL WAR VETERANS.

Men's Meeting at Association Building Yesterday Turned Over to Members of G. A. R.

Special services for the members of the W. H. Sargent Post, G. A. R., were held yesterday afternoon at three o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. building, the regular hour of the men's meeting. W. Dale was in charge of the meeting and a large attendance of men, including the veterans was present. J. P. Carle was the speaker of the day, telling of experiences of the soldiers in the Civil War, particularly with reference to the departure of the troops for the front and their welcome home. Others of the old soldiers present also spoke. Special music for the occasion was furnished by a four-piece orchestra and a male quartet, and old war songs were sung. The veterans plan to hold a banquet at the association building on June 13.

STRANGER ACCUSED OF RAISING DRAFT FROM LOCAL BANK

Man Arrested in Baraboo Alleged to Have Raised Bower City Bank Draft From $50 to $90 and Attempted to Pass It.

Have Janesville merchants been alarmed out of hard-earned dollars by a draft-raising scheme that was attempted in Baraboo on Saturday a stranger there, raising a draft issued by the Bower City Bank, from nine dollars to ninety dollars? On Saturday morning Loo Brownell, bookkeeper at the local bank, drew a draft for nine dollars for a man who gave him the name of William Jones. On Saturday afternoon a man who registered at the Baraboo hotel as John Barker tried to pass the same draft, which had been raised to ninety dollars, on Baraboo merchants. After two unsuccessful attempts, when a clothing and hardware merchant refused to accept the paper, he finally secured change by ordering a small bill of goods from a hardware store. The proprietor, however, became immediately suspicious and caused the arrest of the man. The stranger refused to give his name or address and demanded immediate trial. His preliminary examination was set for ten days from today.

District Attorney James Malone of Baraboo was in the city yesterday and conferred with Assistant Cashier H. D. Murdoch of the local bank. Mr. Brownell and Chief of Police Appleby. The description of the man given by Mr. Malone answered that of the man to whom Mr. Brownell sold the draft and he may be called to Baraboo to identify the man.

It is thought the man is a professional. The work, however, in raising the amount of the draft was crude. The description of Barker or Jones, as thought by Chief Appleby to tally with that of a horse thief for whom cards were received at the police station. The name signed on the draft, endeavoring it, resembled the word "Jungle."

Chief of Police Appleby holds the theory that some of the local merchants may have been swindled in the manner, although no complaints have been made to him. The methods of that class of men, however, are to "work" one town and then make a jump to one farther away.

The man promised to square up matters with the Baraboo store, gave them their money and received the draft in return, expecting to go scot free. The officers, however, spoiled his plans by arresting him and taking charge of the bank paper.

Large Number From This City Spent Sunday at Lake Koshkonong and Partook of Delicious Fish Chowder.

About sixty from this city, invited guests of the Outing club, spent yesterday at the club's cottage at Lake Koshkonong and enjoyed a fish chowder served there. The party journeyed to and from the lake in automobiles, leaving here in the morning and returning late in the afternoon.

The shower in the afternoon somewhat marred the pleasure of the day, but despite this at least a delightful time was had. Michael Mulquh, a member of the club, was presented with a handsome fountain pen with the P. O. E. emblem, a Meerschaum pipe, and a K. of C. watch chain, in honor of his birthday, which occurred Saturday.

CARTER HOME ROBBED ON SUNDAY MORNING

VALUABLE JEWELRY AND TWO DOLLARS IN CASH BELONGING TO MISS ELIZABETH SCHICKER TAKEN.

SUSPECT IS ARRESTED

Ernest Byers, Who has Served Three Terms in State Prison, Seen by Neighbors in Yard and Was Taken into Custody.

Between the hours of ten and twelve o'clock yesterday morning, while the family were away from home, the residence of Harry G. Carter at 215 Pleasant street, was broken into and robbed, valuable jewelry and a small sum in cash, belonging to Miss Elizabeth Schicker being stolen. The bolt on a windowed door was broken and the rest of the house being open, easy access was furnished the burglar. The valuables taken consisted of a solid gold hunting case lady's watch, watch chain, gold cross, gold heart locket, gold bar pin with emerald setting and two dollars in cash. The name "Lizzie Schicker" being engraved in the case of the watch.

Reported in the case is directed towards Ernest Byers, who was arrested for drunkenness at noon. He has already served three terms in the state penitentiary for petty thefts. Byers, the police allege, was seen on the front porch of the Carter home and later was noticed going around to the rear of the house. After he came out of the yard he went up town and returning down Jackson street turned in at the Mary Kimball mission and went back of the building. He was coming out from there when on a message from the mission, Officer Brown arrested him. Byers was intoxicated at the time. He was searched by the officers but none of the stolen goods could be found on him. It is thought that he hid them somewhere in the rear of the mission, but efforts to locate the jewelry have thus far failed. Byers refused to admit that he was the thief when questioned.

Byers was arraigned in municipal court this morning on a drunkenness charge and was sentenced to five days in jail, a fine of $2 and costs or five days additional. Witnesses who were to be summoned to testify against Byers were out of town today and the preferring of a charge of burglary against him was deferred until their return.

Byers has been in state prison three times the local police say. Once several years ago, when Chief of Police Appleby was city marshal of Deloit, he was captured in this city by Mr. Appleby and John Hogan then city marshal here, for the theft of several coats from the rectory of the Episcopal church in Deloit. He was sentenced for that and later for the theft of a pair of shoes. The last time he served a prison term for stealing junk.

One Drunkard. Jas. Clark who has been appearing in court frequently of late for drunkenness, was again arraigned today. Clark's sister made complaint to the police and judge this morning concerning her brother's actions of late. He has been depending upon her for support, drinking and misusing her, and she worried of the practice. Clark has not been employed regularly for two months past. Clark whined out a story about not being able to find steady employment when the judge asked him for his business and then again rebuked him by saying that he could not expect anyone to hire him who had drunk so. Clark was sentenced to five days in the county jail with a fine of five dollars and costs or fifteen days additional. Clark will probably keep sober the full fifteen days, as it is doubtful if he can raise the amount of the fine.

Industrial and Commercial Club Extend Invitation to U. C. T. to Meet in Janesville in 1912.

At the weekly meeting of the directors of the Industrial and Commercial club at the Myers hotel, this noon, it was decided to extend an invitation to the State United Commercial Travelers, who hold their annual three-day meeting at Green Bay next week, to make Janesville their main place for 1912. C. B. Evans and G. A. Moten will represent the local lodge at the meeting.

The dues for the fourth quarter will be called for by the secretary of the club.

A new plan for ornamental street lighting was submitted and a proposition from the Janesville Electric company was read, which provides for five light lamps at corners, and three light lamps between blocks, at a nominal cost. The committee will take the matter up with the council with the recommendation of the club.

BID OF LOCAL MAN MAY BE ACCEPTED

J. P. Cullen Notified That His Bid on Federal Building at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Was Lowest.

J. P. Cullen, a local contractor may get the contract to build the new post office and court house for Uncle Sam at Sioux Falls, South Dakota. He was informed by a telegram message Saturday from Washington that his bid on the work was $2,000 under any of the rest.

Mr. Cullen has had considerable experience in the construction of government buildings and no doubt would give good satisfaction in this case. His bid for the entire job was $187,704, and it is safe to say that in case he secures the contract, that a good percentage of the money will go to local firms.

GOLF CLUB SCENE OF A DELIGHTFUL PARTY

Five Young Ladies Were Hostesses at Dancing Party at Sinnerissippi Club, Saturday Night.

The Misses Louise Merrill, Marjorie Mount, Hazel Spencer, Amorote Whitson and Josephine Trout were the hostesses at a charming dancing party at the Sinnerissippi golf club, Saturday night, at which about thirty couples were pleasantly entertained. Excellent music, tasty decorations and hostesses ever solicitous as to the needs of their guests made the party a most delightful affair.

The hall was decorated with streamers and a profusion of blue blossoms and the porch was hung with pretty Japanese lanterns. The punch bowl was placed at one end of the porch, while later in the evening a luncheon was served in the screened portion at the other.

With Mr. Kroll of Chicago at the piano and Mr. Menzies of this city with the drum, the music was everything that could be wished for and it was with reluctance that the dancing was given up at midnight.

Those who were present from out of the city were Misses Hazel Underhill, Edgerton, Charlotte Mount, Milwaukee; Marion Hodge, Madison; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Doty, Chicago; Kenneth Jeffries, Deloit; Harry Houck, Chicago; Douglas McKee, Earl Coleman and Arthur Doe, Madison.

HOW THE JAPS FIGHT FIRE

Review of the Tokio Department, as a Demonstration of Practical Efficiency, Was Farcical.

As a display of low comedy talent of acrobatic skill and of lung capacity, the review of the Tokio fire brigades at Ithiba park may have had a certain degree of interest, but as a demonstration of practical efficiency in dealing with what the Japanese translator loves to designate "conflagrations" it was unutterably farcical. After witnessing such a lamentable display of ineptitude one could only marvel that the capital has hitherto escaped total destruction or that the ravages to which Osaka was subjected last year were restricted to some 20,000 houses.

It is true that the metropolitan fire companies represent a great advance upon what they were during the pre-Meiji days, when the greatest solicitude of the members of the "hikeshigumi" was devoted not to the task of extinguishing the flames but rather to that of preserving from incineration the little effigy of a god or patron saint which every company unfailingly carried with it on these expeditions for good luck.

Old residents bear witness to the vociferous energy and enthusiasm with which the firemen fulfilled this self-appointed task, while the fire in its turn merrily discharged its mission of gutting everything inflammable within an accessible area. If, however, in the end the firemen escaped in withdrawing with their little wooden god still intact they were immensely pleased with themselves and were satisfied that society at large could have no ground for demanding anything more than this.

Cool and capable in war, the Japanese, despite centuries of familiarity, appear to lose their heads when fire starts. Confusion reigns supreme. Connected with each fire station are large numbers of what may be termed auxiliaries, who have really nothing to do with the actual task of extinguishing the flames, but whose duties consist in appearing on the scene at the earliest possible moment armed with lanterns and in thereafter helping to remove goods and chattels from the buildings within the danger zone.—New York Herald.

Bear Romance Is Ended.

Old Ben, the big black bear who has lived at the Bronx zoo almost ever since the zoo started, is dead. Old Ben was about twenty-two years old and Dr. W. Reed Blair believes that old age had a great deal to do with his death. But the attendants, who were fond of the good natured old fellow, insist that it was the shattering of a bear romance that killed Ben.

Ben was for many years a favorite with Clefity, a brown female bear who shared his den. Recently Clefity, who is much younger than Ben, began to show that she was bored by his attentions, and she was shifted to an adjoining den. Next door to her new quarters lives a young and handsome Abyssinian bear, and it wasn't long before Clefity was rubbing noses with him.

Ben, watching this courtship from his enforced bachelor quarters, began to refuse food and medicines couldn't restore his interest in life. And when he died Clefity didn't stop rubbing noses with the Abyssinian for even a moment's warning.—New York Sun.

MAY HAVE RACING AT FAIR GROUND TRACK IN COMING AUGUST

Secretary Putnam Receives Word That Janesville Can Enter Circuit Recently Formed of Eastern Horses.

Secretary Charles Putnam received word today that Janesville can have a week of harness racing at the local track the fourth week in August of this year and become a member of a western circuit on which a hundred fast eastern horses are scheduled entries.

Grant U. Fisher, who is a member of the state fair board, stated today that this circuit has been recently formed, and will open its circuit at Peoria on July 4th, and be in Milwaukee the week of August 1th and he had secured an option on the Janesville track for the following week if desired.

Mr. Putnam will take the matter up at once with the directors and it is thought the local grounds will be in excellent shape for the meet if it can be secured. The purses are for five hundred dollars and a hundred entries guaranteed.

construction of roads toward which the state will contribute. The bill carries an appropriation of $350,000 annually.

The little resolution for a constitutional amendment for the adoption of the principle of the initiative and referendum passed the assembly last week and will come up for consideration in the senate this week. It provides that on petition of a certain percentage of voters any proposed law shall be submitted to the electorate for approval or rejection. The proposed law may be suggested by the legislature or by the people themselves.

The income tax bill is intended to make the wealthier classes pay more taxes than they do at the present time. Many legislators contend that the measure will, however, "pinch" the small tax-payer more than the big one. An income tax is said to be a fine thing and especially appeals to those who have made a study of taxation, but the pending measure does not meet the approval of tax experts. It is the belief of many members of the legislature the income tax bill will not pass at this session.

Senator W. C. Owen of Malden Rock, author of the bank deposit guaranty bill, who is expected one of the most popular members of the legislature, and who is credited with carrying through some highly beneficial bank legislation during the present session, is plainly seen to be having great trouble with the bank guaranty law because of the adverse sentiment against it in the legislature. Senator Owen failed to secure the recommendation of the measure for passage by his own committee and it was reported "without recommendation." It is, however, declared, if there should be severe bank failures in the state at the present time many would clamor for the passage of a deposit insurance law. The argument is, however, set forth by the bankers, that no person has lost a dollar in a state bank for years, and under the increased safeguard placed around banking at the present session there is really no reason for a bank deposit guaranty act. The senate will consider the bill as a special order of business next Wednesday evening, and it is understood many prominent men who favor the measure will talk on it. The bill, if passed, would require state banks to set aside a guaranty fund against loss to any depositor, a sum equal to two per cent of their average deposits. This fund would be constantly maintained, and under the control of the state banking commissioner.

The waterways bill, which confers authority on the state railroad commission to grant franchises for dams and waterway improvements, will be given a public hearing next Wednesday afternoon. The act repeals all existing franchises that are repulsive and provides for a state tax of from ten cents to two dollars per horsepower per year. Big water power owners strongly oppose it.

The big oil companies operating in Wisconsin were defeated in the assembly last Wednesday in their effort to have a bill passed abolishing the state inspection of kerosene and gasoline, but will make another effort next Wednesday to have the bill re-considered. According to many progressive republican members of the legislature, the democrats are assisting the oil lobbyists because Governor McGovern is opposed to the bill. He, like Senator La Follette, when he was governor, is declared, stands strongly against the repeal of the law because he believes the oil department prevents the flooding of Wisconsin with inferior grades of oil which increase to a great extent, accidents when used by the ultimate consumer.

INSURANCE BILL TO COME UP TONIGHT

or Ingram today, "we have gone as far as we can without a constitutional amendment. Steps to secure that amendment have already been taken by the introduction of a bill in the senate which will permit a broad scope of state insurance than is provided for in this bill to be offered tonight. By the time the new system is in working order, should it go through, it is hoped that a constitutional amendment may be passed which will permit, if not compel, many others to take out insurance. Insurance can be furnished cheaper by the state than by any private corporation. The state does not have to declare large dividends out of the surplus to its stockholders. Moreover, it will keep Wisconsin money within Wisconsin, invested in Wisconsin farm lands and Wisconsin securities."

This bill is one of the noted outgrowths of the recently enacted industrial insurance bill, which is now in force in this state. The bill has been worked up by some of the most competent experts in the country.

DO NOT TELL IT ALL BEING SILENT NECESSARY TO SUCCESSFUL CLIMBING.

Girl Who Submits Her Plans and
Alas Her Feelings to Acquaintances
Displays Sure Signs of Mediocrity.

The girl who submits all her little plans to her next door friend, and airs all her inmost feelings to her newest acquaintance, and who never undertakes anything but that she asks for advice in a dozen different places, we seldom include in our list of climbers.

The girl climber, like her brother, is generally sufficient unto herself when it comes to ideas, convictions and confidence. She never goes around flailing with emotion because she is afraid sound-so might go to the wall, or this, that, or the other thing might turn topsy turvy, and what's your opinion, please? Don't you think so, too? What would you do if you were in my place?

The strong, capable, brainy girl will never pose as the one who wants advice and assistance. She would think it a confession of weakness. Nor does she boast of what she can do before she can show what she would boast of.

Wearing your heart on your sleeve and your head in that state of careless abandon where it will let out most anything just for the joy of wiggling your tongue is a sure sign of hopeless mediocrity.

As Clyde Fitch noted, you can always see a certain admirable silence about the real climber.

Who hasn't heard of that railroad president who was known as the silent one, and who believed, and proved, that in private plans and personal enterprises silence is not only important, but often, if success is at stake, absolutely essential?

The arguments in favor of silence in your personal affairs are generally those:

If no one knows your plans no one can laugh in his sleeve when they fail to pieces.

If you are not given to crow about what you can do failure won't come half as hard as when everybody can wink and grin about it.

If you want no one's advice but your own you may be saved much self-reproach.

The mind doctors insist that silence in your private undertakings will protect you against the adverse mental influence of your neighbors, and will help to reduce your fear thoughts.

The more you acquaint your friends and associates with your intentions and anticipations, the more they expect the climax of this, the consequence of that, and the sequel of the last chapter, until finally they have wormed the whole illad of your existence out of you. Maybe next time you meet these people with a pang of regret.

A clever primary teacher I once knew never could leash her enthusiasm about the puns received from So-and-so in her career as a teacher. In a pretty, subtle way she would always sling her own praises, and rehearse for your benefit all the compliments and bouquets received from inspectors. No one enjoyed her concerted bubblings, and instinctively some of her sister teachers wished that something would happen to chill her enthusiasm.

In the end something did happen which made Miss Swaggart forget her wonderful traits and abilities, for the time being at least.

There is Color in Andalusia.

A trio of Andalusian maidens taking a walk is a sight to please an artist's eye. Their behavior is so modest, their hair so neatly tied—always in the latest Spanish fashion—with the addition of a flower. Their cotton dresses, prettily made and spotlessly clean, are nearly always protected by white or colored aprons elaborately trimmed with lace and surrounded by a frill. In the country the girls wear no head covering even in the coldest weather, but round their shoulders they generally carry woolen shawls folded in oblong shape, so that they lie straight across the back and hang over each arm. These in springtime are sometimes of silk, very prettily embroidered.

Andalusian girls are as a rule singularly graceful, with small hands and feet. Their complexions are pale, with the exception of those who live by the sea or in mountainous places, such as Ronda, where the women have always been noted for their beauty.

Tickling the Hippo.

"Come here and I'll scratch your tongue," Calip, a visitor to the New York Central Park menagerie heard the keeper say to the young hippopotamus.

The visitor hadn't expected that the hippo understood English, but apparently he did. He came up to the edge of the tank, opened his jaws a yard or so and waited. The keeper put his hand into the open mouth and tickled the animal's tongue with the ends of his fingers.

"That's the way to make a hippo love you," said the keeper. "They like to be tickled just as a cat likes to have you stroke its back. Calip wouldn't close his mouth on my arm, and I know I am taking no risk. They are the most amiable big beasts in the world, and I would trust them more than I would an elephant."

The Shade Made by the VUDOR Shade

By Charles Patterson

All Shades of people are shaded by the shade of the VUDOR Shade. There are other shades besides the VUDOR shade—the Sun Shade, the light shade, the dark shade and the "Shade of the old apple tree," but no shade makes the Shade that is made by the VUDOR Shade.

There is nothing shady in the make of the VUDOR Shade except the shade made by the VUDOR Shade. If you want to keep shady always get in the shade of the VUDOR Shade. The VUDOR Shade is the young folks shade; and the shade of the young folk's shade, oftentimes keeps the old folks in the shade.

There is no shading of the price of the VUDOR Shade. The VUDOR Shade is made in many shades, but the shade is the same in all shades.

The VUDOR Shade is the new shade, and the Shade made by the VUDOR Shade is the newest shade made. J. M. Bostwick & Sons will put you in any shade of the VUDOR Shade, and guarantee the shade to be the right shade. If you've been in the shade of an old shade get in the shade of the new shade, and that, the VUDOR Shade made by the HOUGH SHADE CORPORATION.

SUITS - COATS - MILLINERY

Special Showing of Tan Coats
$5.95 and $7.25

We have in today a lot of beautiful tan coats, handsomely trimmed with satin and silk, large collar effects. These are the coats that have been so popular this season. The lateness of the season is the reason for these special prices, $5.95 and $7.25

New White Skirts

For the summer wear the white skirt is to be very popular. These are the new close fitting styles so much in vogue now, and included also are numerous more conservative plaited models.

Lace and Embroidery Dresses were never so popular or so reasonably priced

Our showing exceeds even our own expectation in point of style and the quality we offer for the prices. Many exclusive effects are to be seen here. Prices range as low as $5.00 for really excellent dresses, other more elaborate are priced as high as $25.00.

Party Gowns for Summer
Our showings range $12 to $20. Each model a distinctive style.

BLACK SATIN SUITS

The showing is limited. The prices are marked way below value. Black Satin is especially dressy, and for cool days in summer is just the thing.

SPRING SUITS NOW $15.00

The moderate prices that have characterized this store's showing of new suits, is remarkable. Suits that we have been selling at $20.00 were the counterparts of those shown in cities at $25.00 to $30.00.

Our special showing of suits now at $15.00 means a handsome reduction from former prices.

SUFFRAGE IS ONLY SECONDARY ISSUE

DERMON ON POPULAR SUBJECT
BY DR. BEATON, AT CONGRE-GATIONAL CHURCH, LAST EVENING.

DUTIES OF A WOMAN

As A Mother And The Maker Of A
Home are of Greatest Importance
Said the Pastor, all Others
Being Subsidiary to That.

"I want to put myself on record as an old-fashioned man. You might think from some of my remarks that I am a believer in woman's suffrage in all that it implies, but I am not. To understand a woman's physical and mental nature is to understand what her position should be. I still maintain that the vital and transcendent place of woman is motherhood and the home. There is nothing that has been said by the suffrage advocates or nothing offered by them to show that woman has done or could do anything that is as great as her motherhood. These in effect were the words of Dr. David Beaton last evening at the evening session at the Congregational church in speaking on 'Woman's Work and Influence.'"

"The subject is a very large one," said Dr. Beaton, in his opening remarks, "and we, therefore, are compelled to select one phase of it. The one which I wish to dwell upon is perhaps a new phase assuming importance in the present day."

"You are all aware that sixty years ago, when the participation of woman in public affairs was being agitated, almost the whole argument was on the political side. We are in danger of regarding that as the only side of interest, because it is naturally sensational."

"I think the question is entirely on a new phase and is likely to assume that phase. You know no great returns have ever been secured which have not been attacked."

"Those interested in the public know there are three questions which interest all. The first of these is the better education of children for citizenship; the possibility of teaching children in schools and in the homes to become better citizens. We have handed this problem of the education of children to woman. Woman is so closely related to the educational problem that there can be no doubt the matter of solving this problem will be left to her."

"Another question is the increase in the number of degenerate born in the world, who become criminals or form the classes who depend upon others for support. So we have this important thing to face that a large number are being born that are not fit for the struggle for existence. It goes without saying that we can never solve this problem without the assistance of the womanhood of the country."

"But there is still another. It is brought before us by the number of women workers. That is, the vast increasing number of young women who must go out to earn their living in competition with other workers. The majority of them are not protected as the women of ordinary homes are."

"Woman has been held in a certain position by the law. She is freer here than in the old country, but she still retains a position of inferiority in the eyes of the law and not only in the law but as regards opportunities. The whole watchword for us men is concerned has been 'Equality of Opportunity.' We are now just in the transition period from that to 'Equality for Woman.'"

"There never was a female Shakespeare nor a woman Michel Angelo. The creative spirit of woman has never done anything that is equal to those. The mentality of woman is different from that of man. There never was a female Shakespeare, but there was a Mother of Christ and although there was never a woman Michel Angelo there was a Monica, the mother of St. Augustine. When the actual facts are seen the contribution of motherhood, the head at the home, has been greater than any of these other accomplishments."

Continuing with his address, Rev. Beaton showed that the importance of woman in various countries has been great.

"We who have been thinking about these things," he said, "claim that the true fact is that wifehood, motherhood and the making of the home are the true and the most important and nothing else woman can do begins to be half as important to the community. It does not make any difference how great a woman might be as an artist, or in any other line of work she might take up, she would not be any greater in those than she would be as a mother."

Dr. Beaton told several clubwomen whom he had met and talked with at a convention of women's clubs here and said: "I have come to the conclusion that there is no incompatibility with a woman being a public-spirited servant and member of the community and a good true, faithful, successful mother and housewife."

Now, to my mind there is the solution of the situation. Isn't a woman just as capable as her husband in studying out and helping to solve the problems of the day?"

The work of Mrs. Sherwood, Miss McIsaac and others in dealing with and helping to raise to a higher level girls who are unprotected in their work in business and commercial life was described.

Woman's attitude with regard to the unions and her fearless way of voicing her sentiment against that which she considered wrong was praised by the speaker who said that men had not the moral courage of women. "Do you know," said Dr. Beaton, "why it is the boss capitalists do not want women to vote? A woman does not vote as a man does. She does not care one brass farthing except for her children. That is, the womanhood of any town will vote for the interests that affect their children even if it means going to smash. That's the womanhood of it. What woman, if the town has a drunken wreck, would not vote so as to save her boy from a drunkard's grave if the town were bankrupt?"

"I am not saying anything against the woman that becomes an artist or who enters any other activities that women engage in. But the great point is that she do her work as womanhood makes her fit to do. Then we have nothing to fear."

"Whatever political enfranchisement or social enfranchisement do, let it be such that it enable woman to do her part for the city or state. If it enables her to do her characteristic work as a woman she must get that enfranchisement. None knows what the solution of the problem will be."

TO TALK AND SMOKE TOMORROW EVENING

Commercial Club to Hold First of Monthly Informal-Smokers at Elks' Rooms Tomorrow Night.

Tomorrow night at the Elks' club rooms will be held the first of the monthly informal smokers given by the Commercial and Commercial club. It is the idea of the latter organization to afford an opportunity by means of these smokers, for a beneficial exchange of ideas that could not be gained in a formal gathering.

All the men of the city are welcome to be present and join in the smoking and talking, whether a member of the Commercial club or not. By means of this informal discussion it is hoped to bring out a number of suggestions that otherwise would never reach the ears of the officers. Suggestions as to the manner of conducting the meetings of the club or as to the policy which should be pursued to place Janesville among the leaders of the progressive cities in the state will be welcome and it should be the duty of every citizen to be present and join in the discussions.

As much good discussion and helpful advice is lost in the formal gatherings of the club, it is the plan of the club to hold these smokers every month in the future, at which time all the talk and the offering of suggestions will be in the most informal fashion.

PORTUGAL IS FACING AN ANTI-REPUBLICAN REVOLT

New Rebellion Is Planned by Monarchists Which May Break Out Soon.

Lisbon, May 22.—Private letters received from Lisbon declare that a serious uprising may break out in a few days, possibly by May 24, on which day elections will be held, as the monarchists are fully prepared for the revolution.

According to private messages received in Paris the counter-revolution will begin in the north, where the anti-republican feeling is strong and where the discontent with the new regime has been manifested in strikes at Oporto. It is expected, as expected, should follow the example of the north, the counter-revolution will be a most serious affair.

Disorder has been rampant in the capital. Robberies and housebreakings are of almost daily occurrence, and the authorities seem powerless. Arms are at a premium, and the demand for foreign, especially British, flags reveals an unexpected number of citizens who claim foreign protection.

At Oporto all business is at a standstill and dangerous encounters are reported between strikers and the militia. All work has been paralyzed by thousands of strikers, who seize every opportunity to do damage to shipping.

There is uneasiness everywhere, and many Portuguese are leaving Oporto for a foreign asylum. The majority of those fugitives are suspected of royalist and clerical views.

Several regiments in the north are stanch to the republic, but others cannot be depended on by the government.

FAST TRAIN IS IN COLLISION.

Big Four Passenger in Smash-Up and Five Persons Hurt.

Lafayette, Ind., May 22.—Train No. 31, the fast mail train on the Big Four running between Chicago and Cincinnati, was wrecked three miles east of here, and five persons were injured.

A yard freight engine running at a speed of 35 miles an hour collided with the passenger train and both engines were demolished. The engineer and fireman on the passenger train jumped and escaped injury. Earl Hansen, fireman on the yard engine, had his back broken and will probably die.

Mrs. William Ackerman of Streator, Ill., who was riding in the ladies' coach, had her right leg broken. Harry Henson and Paul Eaton, mail clerks, were injured about the head.

RACES TO HEAL SICK WOMAN.

Doctor Expects to Reach Rome in Record Time.

Chicago, May 22.—Dr. J. Choate of Los Angeles, Cal., passed through Chicago en route to Rome, Italy, called there by the illness of Mrs. A. S. Browning of Los Angeles, who is touring the continent with her daughter.

Doctor Choate expects to make the entire trip in 15 days. He received the call by cable at one o'clock on Wednesday and left Los Angeles at 10:30 the next morning on the Union Pacific and Northwestern and will sail from New York on the Mauretania at ten a. m. May 24, due in Falmouth in the morning five days later, and will leave immediately for London, whence he will cross the channel and catch the express via Paris to Rome.

WOMAN ASTRONOMER IS DEAD.

Mrs. William P. Fleming, Curator at Harvard, Passes Away.

Boston, May 22.—Mrs. William P. Fleming, one of the foremost astronomers of the world and curator of astronomical records at Harvard university, died at a Boston hospital.

Mrs. Fleming was born in Dundee, Scotland, in 1857. Her maiden name was Stevens. She discovered eight stars of the Nova type, 11 new variables, and 81 fifth type stars.

Mrs. Fleming, with her staff of 12 assistants, prepared the Draper catalogue in which 100,000 stars are classified. She was the only woman ever given an official position at Harvard.

LONG-FAST AIDS CENTENARIAN.

Physicians Say He Has Good Chance to Reach 102 Years.

La Crosse, Wis., May 22.—Marion Crabtree of Savanna, Ill., aged one hundred and one, who has gone without food for 65 days, is in a hospital here and it is said his chances for at least another year of life after his remarkable feat are better than ever.

Physicians who have attended the aged man, who was taken off a train here while en route to Minneapolis because of his weak condition, state that he has a good chance to pull through.

Malaria Is Rechristened.

Malaria, which has in the past been attributed to poisonous gases from swamps and decaying vegetation, has now been officially laid at the door of the mosquito, and is called "mosquito fever."

The international sanitary congress plucked the name formally and officially.

KING GEORGE MEETS PREMIERS OF COLONIES

England's Attitude Toward Her Overseas Dominions May Be Changed by Reforms—The Advocate.

London, May 22.—The first official meeting between King George and his colonial premiers took place here today when the prime ministers of Australia, Canada, South Africa, New Zealand and Newfoundland, convened with the sovereign and his cabinet in a conference which promises to be of vast importance both to the mother country as well as to her possessions, as nearly every subject in which a worldwide empire is interested in, will be discussed.

Chief among many interesting questions raised by the delegates from England's colonies in their dispatches to the home government, when the imperial conference was first proposed, is a resolution from the Union of South Africa relative to England's position on trade preference. This resolution reads:

"That the desirability be considered of replacing the system of trade preference at present granted by the overseas dominions to Great Britain by a system of contributions in money or services to imperial naval and local defense."

This resolution, coming as it did at a time when the Canadian reciprocity agreement was pending before both the legislature at Washington and the dominion parliament at Ottawa, Canada, raised a storm of protest among English citizens. In fact no strong was the pressure brought to bear upon the ministry of South Africa by the home government that the governor general, Lord Gladstone, submitted a letter recalling this section of the tentative resolutions for discussion before the imperial conference, stating that he had been advised by his ministry that they desired to postpone the debate upon trade preference, but that the right honorable the prime minister hoped that he would have opportunity during his stay in London to discuss the question raised with his majesty's government.

Apart from the question of preference several subjects of the most vital importance to the future of the empire are to be raised. Australia will move to rescind the objectionable features of the declaration of London, and New Zealand has two equally important resolutions, one relating to the establishment of an imperial council and the other the reorganization of the colonial office.

FIVE SISTERS PERISH IN FIRE.

Mother Mistakes Gasoline for Kerosene in Filling Lamp.

Ulen, Kan., May 22.—Five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Rouch of this place, ranging from seven to sixteen years in age, were burned to death. The parents were badly burned.

The mother filled a lamp with gasoline by mistake. Preparatory to ascending a stairway leading to the second floor room where her daughters were asleep, she applied a match to the lamp. An explosion followed, the fire being communicated to a two-gallon can of gasoline, sending a burst of flame up the narrow stairway.

The woman's dress caught fire, but the flames were extinguished by her husband. He rushed up the burning stairs and caught his youngest daughter, aged five, in his arms. Calling to the other girls to follow him and leap into his arms, he ran to a rear window and jumped to the ground, saving the little one.

He stood with upraised arms to catch the others as they jumped, but for some reason they failed to follow him.

The Man Fond of His Work.

Give us, O give us the man who sings at his work! Be his occupation what it may he is equal to any of those who follow the same pursuit in silent sullenness. He will do more in the same time—he will do it better—he will persevere longer.—Thomas Carlyle.

Four-Flushing.

Women are four-flushers, too. Many a time a woman says "pass the cream, please," when she knows well that there's nothing but milk in the pitcher, mighty thin milk at that.

Two Beautiful Systems.

Ye—Where are my collars, dear? Ah—I don't really know. He—Well, yesterday I couldn't find my shirt; this morning my ties were missing; now I can't find my collars. The only place I know of worse than my bureau is my card index system!

New Idea in Horticulture.

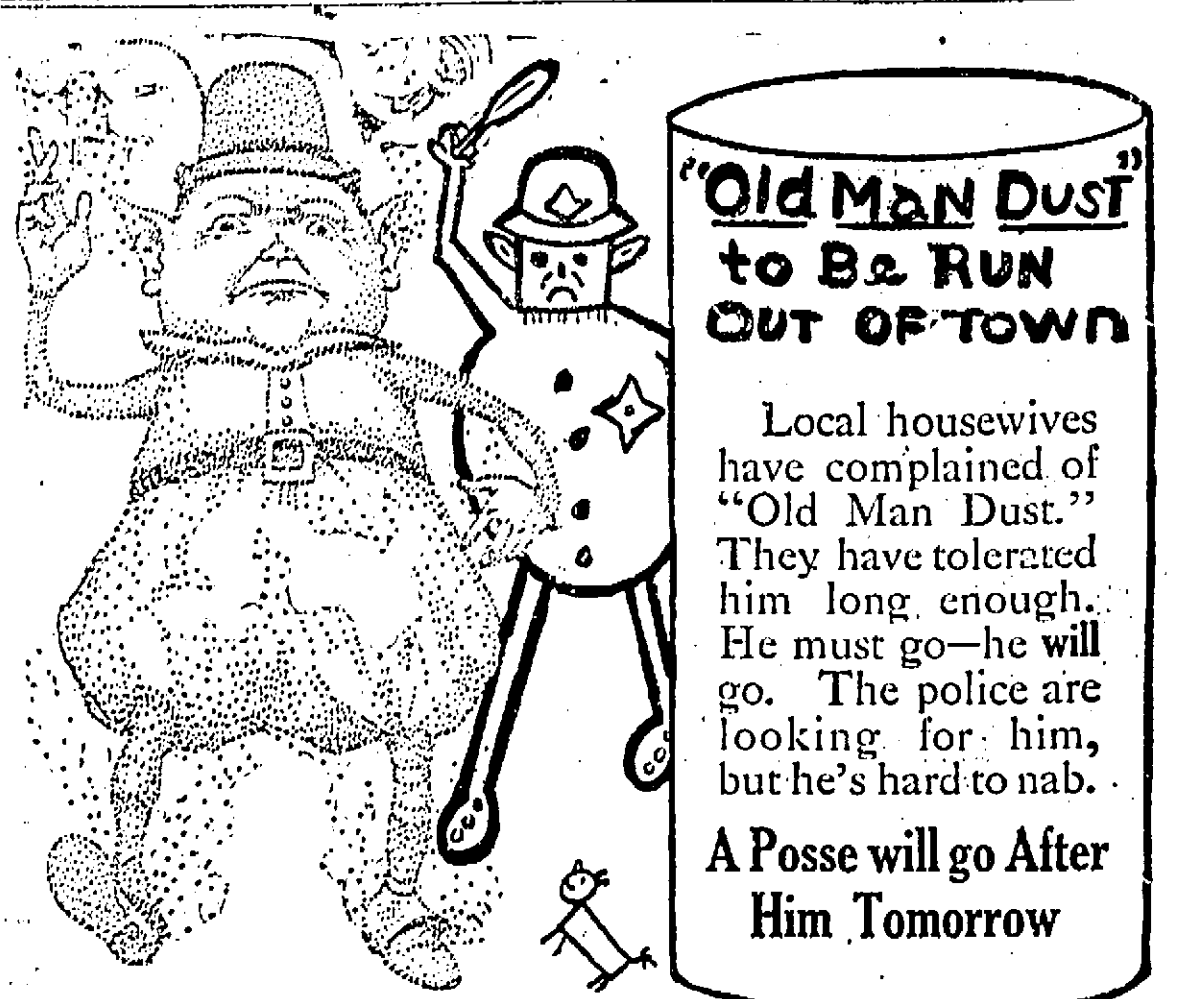

Flowers raised in an experimental way in England under arc lights, all other illuminations being excluded, grow to enormous size, bloom ahead of time, and frequently appear in unusual colors.

Tore Up $5,000.

When Herr Schlemmich of Vienna, presented his wife with a lottery ticket on her birthday, she reproached him for wastefulness and tore it into shreds. The ticket has won $5,000, but as they cannot produce the ticket they cannot obtain the money. The husband is now petitioning for a divorce.

Of Course.

If a man really loves a woman, of course he wouldn't marry her for the world if he were not quite sure he was the best person she could by any possibility marry.—Holmes.

"Old Man Dust" to Be RUN OUT OF TOWN

Local housewives have complained of "Old Man Dust." They have tolerated him long enough. He must go—he will go. The police are looking for him, but he's hard to nab. A Posse will go After Him Tomorrow

Even Pure Beer is Sensitive to Light

The direct rays of the sun on beer will start decay.

Dark glass gives protection against light.

Schlitz is sold in dark bottles, to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

We use the costliest materials. One of our partners selects the barley.

We go to Bohemia for hops.

Schlitz is aged for months before it is marketed, to prevent biliousness. It cannot ferment in your stomach.

We filter it through white wood pulp. Sterilize every bottle.

We spend more money to attain purity than on any other cost in our brewing.

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."

"There's a Reason"

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Well, Mother is an unappreciative neighbor anyway.

"No doubt," her lips smiling, "but you have come to the wrong market, Mr. Jack Keith."

"Yet," he insisted earnestly, "if this is all straight, with no fraud concealed anywhere, if you have the proofs in your hands, why are you afraid to talk openly? The very manner in which Hawley works convince you he is himself afraid to face the truth."

"No, you are wrong. There are perfectly satisfactory reasons why we should for the present keep our plans secret. There are details yet to be decided upon, and Mr. Hawley's present objection to publicity is only ordinary prudence."

She leaned toward him, her fingers playing nervously with a knife.

"Mr. Keith, I cannot help but like you, and I also feel most kindly disposed toward Mr. Hawley. I wish in this I was no longer compelled to consider you an enemy of us both. There is no reason why I should, except for your blind prejudice against this other man who is my friend. I know you have some cause, for he has told me the entire story, yet I am sure he did no more than his actual duty. He let me realize how very sorry he was that the marshal at Carson City had called upon him for assistance."

"Who? Hawley?" Keith questioned, hardly trusting his own ears.

"Yes; indeed he is a very different man from what you have been led to believe. I know he is a gambler, and all that, but really it is not altogether his fault. He told me about his life, and it was very sad. He was driven from home when only a boy, and naturally drifted into evil company. His one ambition is to break away, and redeem himself. I am so anxious to help him, and wish you could realize his purpose, as I do, and become his friend. Won't you, for my sake? Why, even in this affair he has not the slightest mercenary purpose—he has only thought of what was rightfully mine."

Keith listened, feeling to the full the woman's earnestness, the impossibility of changing her fixed conviction. Hawley had planted his seed deep and well in fruitful soil.

"You make a strong and charming advocate, Miss MacLaire," he returned, feeling the necessity of saying something. "I should like to have you equally earnest on my side. Yet it will be hard to convince me that 'Black Bart' is the paragon of virtue you describe. I wish I might believe for your sake. Did he also explain how he came into possession of these papers?"

"Oh, yes, indeed; there is no secret about that. They were entrusted to him by an old man whom he discovered sick in Independence, and who died in his rooms three years ago. Mr. Hawley has been searching ever since for the old man's granddaughter. It is remarkable how he was finally convinced that I was the one."

"A photograph, was it not?"

A gleam of sudden suspicion appeared in the brown eyes, a slight change in facial expression.

"That was a clue, yes, but far from being all. But why should I tell you this?—you believe nothing I say."

"I believe that you believe; that you are fully convinced of the justice of your claim. Perhaps it is just, but I am suspicious of anything which Black Bart has a hand in. Miss Christie, you really make me wish to retain your friendship, but I cannot do so if the cost includes faith in Hawley. Do you know that is not even his name—that he lives under an alias?"

"Is there anything strange in that out here?" she asked stoutly. "I told you how deeply he regretted his life; that alone would be sufficient cause for him to drop his family name. Did you ever learn his true name?"

He was not sure—only as Neb had reported what Wally had called the man, yet ventured a direct reply.

"Hawley, I believe—he uses it now as a prefix."

"Hawley—Hawley!" her hands floundered. "What does that mean?"

"Hawley—Hawley!" her hands floundered. "What does that mean?"

most important to tell me to-night—he has actually seen my guardian. Don't you wish you could be there?"

She gave him a tantalizing smile, withdrawing her hand, and running up the stairs before he could answer. Over the railing of the landing she glanced down, and then disappeared.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Miss Hope suggested.

No sooner had Miss MacLaire vanished than Keith's thoughts turned toward Hope Wattle. She would need someone in her loneliness to take her mind from off her brother's death, and, besides, much had occurred of interest since the funeral, which he desired to talk over with her. Beyond even those considerations he was becoming aware of a pleasure in the girl's company altogether foreign to this mystery which they were endeavoring together to solve. His yearning to be with her, to look into her face, to mark how clearly the differing soul changed her from Christie MacLaire. He could not help but like the latter, yet somehow was conscious of totally different atmospheres surrounding the two. With one he could be flippant, careless, even deceitful, but the other aroused only the best that was in him, her own sincerity making him sincere.

Yet there was reluctance in his steps as he approached the door of "15," a lassitude he could not explain, but which vanished swiftly enough at Hope's greeting, and the sudden smile with which she recognized him.

"I was sure you would come," she declared frankly, "and I took an early lunch so as to be certain and be here. It has seemed a long time since."

"And you might have even thought I had forgotten," he answered, releasing her hand reluctantly, "if you could have looked into the dining-room since, instead of staring out of these windows."

"Why? How forgotten?" her eyes opening wide in surprise.

"I had the pleasure of taking supper with Miss MacLaire."

"Oh!" the exclamation decidedly expressive.

"Yes, I come at once to you with the confession. However, our meeting was purely accidental, and so I hope for pardon."

"Pardon from me? Why, what difference can it possibly make to me?"

"Would you have me consort with the enemy?" he asked, scarcely daring to press his deeper meaning.

"Oh, no, of course not. What did you talk about? Do you mind telling?"

"Not in the least; our conversation was entirely impersonal. She was telling me about Hawley; what a wonderfully good man he is. I have begun to suspect the fellow has fascinated the poor girl—he is a good looking devil, possessed of a tongue dripping with honey."

"Surely you do not mean she has fallen in love with him," and Hope shuddered at the thought. "Why—why that would be impossible for a good woman."

"Standards of morality are not always the same," he defended gravely. "Miss MacLaire's environment has been vastly different from yours, Hope. She is a variety hall singer; probably, from her own account, a waltz since childhood; and Hawley has come to her in the character of a friend appealing both to her interest and sympathy. I do not know she is in love with him, I merely suspect she may be; certainly she is ready to do battle on his behalf at the slightest opportunity. She believes in him, defends him, and resents the slightest insinuation directed against him. He even escorts her back and forth from her work."

"You know this?"

"I certainly do," and he laughed at the recollection. "Fairbairn met us coming out of the dining-room; you know what a delightful, blunt, blundering fellow he is! Well, Miss Christie must have made an impression even on his bachelor heart, for he actually requested the privilege of escorting her to the Trocadero, and back to the hotel after the performance to-night—hinted at a lunch, the gay old dog, and pranced about like a stage-dog. It was a treat to watch her face when he blurted it all out, snapping his sentences as if he swung a whip-lash. She excused herself on the score of a previous engagement."

"But that was not necessarily with Hawley."

"I asked her directly, after the doctor had disappeared."

"You must have become very familiar," questioning once again in her voice.

"So Miss MacLaire evidently thought, judging from her manner. However she answered frankly "enough," and even defiantly added the information that the gentleman had something to impart to her of the utmost importance, sarcastically asking me if I didn't wish I could be there and overhear. But all down, Hope, until I tell you all that has occurred."

He went over the various events in detail, watching eagerly the expression upon her face as she listened intently, only occasionally interrupting with some pertinent inquiry. The light fell so that she sat partially in the shadow, where her eyes could not be read, yet he experienced no difficulty in comprehending the various moods with which she met his narrative, the color changing in her cheeks, her supple form bending toward him, or leaning backward in the chair, her fingers clapping or unclapping in nervous attention. He began with Neb's report, repeating, word by word, as nearly as he could recollect, what had passed between Hawley and her father. He paused to inquire if she had ever heard the name Bartlett, but her reply was merely a negative shake of the head. When he described their missing the train, she was, apparently, not convinced as to the General's departure upon it, although finally agreeing that, if he really believed the report that the man sought was elsewhere, it would be characteristic of him to accept the first means of getting there. "If he only knew I was here," she exclaimed wearily, "it might be so different, but, oh, we are all of us just groping in the dark."

"Then Keith turned to his chance meeting with Miss MacLaire, and repeated carefully their conversation, dwelling particularly upon the few admissions which had slipped through her lips. These did not seem important to either, although they treasured them up and talked them over. Then, having exhausted the topic, allusion fell between them, Keith asking the privilege of lighting a cigar. Hope, after watching him apply the match, thinking what a fine face he had as the ruddy flame brought it forth with the clearness of a cameo, leaned back, drawing aside the semblance to a lace curtain, and staring forth, without seeing, into the street.

Here is Real Superstition.

A little book published in Cologne in 1605 under the title of "Deutsche und heidliche Arzneyen wider die Pest," gives a crude explanation of the plague and its ravages. We learn that it is due to the eccentric movement of the planets, eclipses of the moon or sun, inundations, earthquakes, famines and wars. Often, also, it follows the bad influence set up by pigs, ducks and geese. It is frequently attributable to the anger of God for man's sins, such as injustice in the law courts, the oppression of subjects by their rulers, the dearthness of goods, the dance and gaming.

Three Good Reasons.

Minister—MacKintosh, why don't you come to church now?

MacKintosh—For three reasons, sir. Firstly, I dinna like yer theology; secondly, I dinna like yer singing; and, thirdly, it was in your kirk I first met my wife.—Musical American.

Same Old Story.

She was a maiden fair to see, and he an ordinary count; not a blooming cent had he, while she'd a large amount. They married—and she went to wear the royal yoke. Now "maiden" hasn't got a cent and "count" is also broke.

Reliable Drug Co. DRUGGISTS

Why They Were Witty.

In a certain district of Clydesdale the lodgers of an old widow lady have of late had much cause for complaint regarding the meagreness of the food supply. The other evening one of her lodgers made a remark, upon which the Lanarkshire landlady said to him: "Man Tam, it's curious ma lodgers are awa' widdy?" "Ay, wumman," said Tam, "it's an aw' saying an' a tru yin, there's naughtin like hunger fur sharpenin' the wits!"—Dundee Weekly News.

Still Life.

"No, Herbert," whispered the maid; "you mustn't put your arm around me. We are watched."

Herbert looked around the dimly lighted parlor.

"Oh, yes," he smiled; "I see there's a rubber plant at the other end of the room."

"Hut! There's another one that you don't see, Johnny's hiding there!"

The Chronic Plague.

Roderick—So that chronic plague used to follow you from town to town and borrow money! Couldn't you get rid of him?

Van Albert (wearily)—No, he came to me one day and said he guessed he had harassed me enough and if I would only give him a gun he would use it at once. In desperation I handed him my new pearl inland revolver.

Roderick—And he used it?

Van Albert—You bet he did. He pawned it for eight dollars and then offered to sell me the ticket for eight more.

Black Hole of Calcutta.

"The Black Hole of Calcutta" was a dark, practically airless prison cell some 18 feet square, into which, in the year 1756, the human brute, Suraja Dowlah, thrust 147 British prisoners. In the morning when the cell door was opened only 23 out of the 147 were found to be alive.—New York American.

What Piggie Said.

Neatly when a little tot was visiting a farm-yard. His mother helped him up to look at a pen of small pigs, relates the Delineator. As he looked in, a little pig near him jumped up, putting his fore feet against the side of the pen, and gave a quick grunt. Neatly turned quickly and said: "Oh, mamma, tell him to say that again!"

Troubles of the Speaker.

No speaker of the house of representatives has become president since Mr. Polk. Mr. Cannon once said: "The speaker is frequently mentioned as a presidential possibility—until he has appointed his committee."

Gain and Pain.

Gain is according to pain—they are twin brothers, they resemble each other so closely their most intimate friends cannot tell them apart—the one plants the tree, the other cares for it until the fruit is matured.

MILWAUKEE SPECIALIST

THEY SAY I CURE. DO YOU BELIEVE THEM?

To convince yourself write and ask these people:

John Burns, Watertown, Wis., cured of Piles of 20 YEARS' DURATION. This was a REMARKABLE CURE.

Mr. Arthur Howe, Columbus, Wis., Mr. E. W. Roca, 12 Saratoga St., Oshkosh, Mr. Otto Stohr, 111 E. D. Beaver Dam, Wis., cured of double rupture. Frank L. Colton, R. F. D. Reesville, Wis., Wm. Bearler, Beaver Dam, Wis., 8 year old son of Norman Miller, Iron Ridge, Wis., all cured of rupture in five treatments, WITHOUT THE USE OF KNIFE OR LOSING A DAY'S TIME.

Mr. Henry Koffman, Hillbert, Wis., R. F. D. 4, cured of ringing in ears and Nasal Catarrh of YEARS' DURATION.

Mrs. Albert Erickson, Lowell, Wis., of severe female trouble.

Mrs. Lillian Hudson, Palmer Hotel, Fond du Lac, Wis., cured of tropical ulcer of leg after having been under the care of over six different doctors and operated on twice. Cured in 60 days. A remarkable case.

Wm. Norburn, Lowell, Wis., cured of rupture WITHOUT USE OF KNIFE OR OPERATION. Write him.

Henry Hedmond, Red Granite, Wis., cured of Chronic Appendicitis.

Dr. Goddard has been ESPECIALLY SUCCESSFUL in treating Chronic Appendicitis, WITHOUT OPERATION.

These names given are only a very few of hundreds of cured cases on file in his office in Milwaukee and are selected because they are people whose gratitude for what the doctor has done for them, prompts them to allow him to refer to them.

Ladies suffering from troubles peculiar to their sex should by all means secure the doctor's advice. A. J. MATTHEWS SACRILEGIOUSLY CONFIDENTIAL.

REMEMBER. Dr. Goddard accepts no inconvertible cases.

REMEMBER. He gives a written legal guarantee to cure in those cases he does accept.

REMEMBER. His charges are within the reach of all.

Dr. Goddard, Milwaukee Specialist, will be at the Myers Hotel, Tuesday, May 23, 1911. Call or write.

Consultation Free, Hours 9 A. M. to 6:30 P. M.
